AUSTRO-GERMANS NOW MORE CONFIDENT THAN EVER OF THE OUTCOME

Pin Their Whole Faith on Paralyzing Russians to Permit Change to West.

ALMOST ENTIRE FORCES

Emperor William is on Galician Front, and Has Taken Supreme Command.

Teutons as Near Lemberg as They Were to Paris

London, June 20. — After seven weeks' battering across Galicia, during which the Russians have been thrown back more than 150 miles, the Austro-Germans today are as close to Lemberg as were the Germans to Paris last Fall. Never, perhaps, since the battle of the Marne, have the Teutonic allies appeared so confident of success.

Having failed in their original plan of crushing France and then turning to Russia, they have reversed the order of their strategy and now, judging by the expenditure of life and ammunition in Galicia, they have pinned their whole faith on paralyzing the Russian army to permit the throwing of a tremendous weight of men and metal into the West, there either to break through the Franco-British line or force an interminable period of sanguinary warfare.

William Takes Charge.

A dispatch from Copenhagen tonight says that the German Emperor himself has taken supreme command of the Galician campaign, establishing his headquarters in Silicia, as near to the front as possible.

Meanwhile the German official communication records the further progress of the Austro-German forces toward Lemberg, both to the north and south of the city. It claims as well that the Russians have been cleared from parts of the Dniester to the south.

The question England and her Allies are asking is whether Grand Duke Nicholas can emulate Joffre's tactics of last fall and check the Austro-Germans at the gates of Lemberg. Optimists point out that the grand duke checked them almost at the gates of Warsaw, just as General Joffre stopped the Germans before Paris and Field Marshal Sir John French stopped them before Ypres, Dunkirk and Salais.

It is argued further that even should Lemberg fall the Russians can drop back to equally formidable positions, utilizing the rivers and swamps, and it is the British contention that they thus could hold out for months, England and France in the meantime sending to their aid men and munitions necessary.

Whether Russia has sufficient ammunition to meet the present strain is a question which cannot be answered in England, although the London papers say the shortage is acute. One Sunday paper characterizes the situation in Galicia as "Russia's supreme emergency" and public interest is centered in that theatre, notwithstanding the hard fighting in progress along the western front. The sound of guns is audible at Lemberg, and possibly this week will see the culmination of one of the most interesting phases of the war.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Reviews Details of Two Days' Fierce Fighting in the Mountains.

Rome, June 20 (via Paris).—An army headquarters statement, most of which is devoted to details of the two days' struggle for the heights on the left bank of the Isonzo river near Plava says that the Italians took the last of these heights June 17 and that while the Italians losses were heavy the results attained were important. The communication says that on the Isonzo, which the Italians "passed by main force." The Austrian positions have been taken one after another by assault. The statement says:

"Artillery duels and engagements between small bodies occupied several points on the front on June 18. In Carina, the enemy made fresh attacks on Freifofel and attempted to approach the head of the Valonia pass. They were repulsed in each case.

"New details now have been received of the struggle which continued two days and a night for the heights on the left bank of the Isonzo river commanding Plava village. The bridge crossing the Isonzo here had been destroyed by the enemy. We threw bridges across during the night and at dawn on the 16th our troops attacked. The movement was carried out all day slowly on account of the enemy's resistance.

"Numerous heavy guns, even 12-inch guns, were concealed in commanding positions which were difficult for our artillery to reach. Nevertheless, our troops by repeated bayonet attacks debouched on the enemy's first line toward evening. During the night the enemy counter attacked unsuccessfully.

Professor Dismissed from University of Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON, D. C. Library of Congress

Assistant Professor Scott Nearing.

The trustees of Pennsylvania University have created a sensation by the removal of Assistant Professor Nearing, of the Wharton School of Finance. This has been done because he preached doctrines of political economy not in harmony with the beliefs of those who control the institution. The professor had been warned some time ago that he would get into trouble with his writings, but he chose to go on. Now it is charged that the trustees who took this action were supporters of the regime of bosses who have attempted more or less successfully to control Pennsylvania politics.

USE AUTOMOBILES IN RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

Burleson Has Signed Orders for 105 Routes.

Every Arrangement Being Made to Change to Automobile Routes Where Roads are Suitable —Will Pay More.

Washington, June 20.—Automobile rural mail delivery routes will be established in many parts of the country beginning August 2. It was announced tonight that orders had been signed by Postmaster General Burleson authorizing the operation of 105 machines on that date.

Preparations are being carried forward for installation of the automobile in the rural mail service wherever the roads will permit. Already some carriers are using automobiles on their routes. Under the new plan, routes designated as automobile routes will be longer than the old horse-drawn vehicle routes and the pay will be more.

Of the routes selected today for automobile mail delivery 44 are in Oklahoma, 28 in Georgia, 19 in California, 8 in Texas, 3 in Florida, 2 in Pennsylvania and one in Louisiana. These aggregate 5,500 miles of post roads, and are the first chosen for the inauguration of the new system.

The number of families to be served by each of the routes selected vary from 130 to 470 and according to the department's estimates, will average 300. This will be a material increase in number as compared with those now served by the slower moving vehicles and is expected by postal officials to result in a reduction of expense to the government as well as an advantage to the people.

GEORGIA LEGISLATURE MEETS.

Much Important Legislation to Come Up for Action by New Body.

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Much important legislation is expected to come before the annual session of the Georgia legislature which begins here Wednesday next. The assembly also will witness a change of governors, Nat E. Harris, of Macon, succeeding John E. Slaton, of Atlanta, June 26.

Measures which, it is announced, will be introduced, will provide for woman suffrage, compulsory education, a secret ballot in all elections, a cotton warehouse system and will abolish locker clubs, prohibit the sale of near beer; abolish capital punishment and eliminate convention nominations for State and Congressional offices, by declaring nominees the candidates receiving the highest number of county unit votes.

Another important matter to be considered will be the releasing of the Western and Atlantic railroad, a property owned by the State.

Kansas City, Mo., June 20.—Twenty-four hours of only negligible rain in Eastern Kansas and Western Missouri gave some relief tonight from fears of large flood damage by waters of the Kansas and Missouri rivers, but the continued threatening weather left the situation menaing.

SECRETARY M'ADOO UNCOVERS FRAUDS

Government Cheated Out of More Than $27,000,000.

ISSUES A STATEMENT

Violators of the Oleomargarine Law Will Be Made to Suffer—Already Nearly Million of Back Taxes Collected.

Washington, June 20.—How violators of the oleomargarine law have defrauded the government out of at least $27,000,000 due in stamps and special taxes was revealed tonight by Secretary McAdoo in a statement based on a preliminary report in a sweeping investigation conducted by Commissioner Osborn, of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Frauds committed as long ago as 1902, immediately after the enactment of the law have been uncovered. The commissioner began his inquiry some months ago and since then unpaid taxes aggregating $851,000 have been recovered and deposited in the treasury "with the prospect of further very large collections."

Forty-two violators of the law have been convicted since the first of January and 29 of these have been given prison sentences. Fines aggregating $149,000 have been assessed in addition to the recoveries actually made and the announcement declares the investigation will be continued.

Great Quantities Sold.

The announcement shows that since 1902 more than 200,000,000 pounds of colored oleomargarine have been manufactured and fraudulently sold as uncolored.

"This amount," it says, "represents more than twice the average yearly consumption of both colored and uncolored oleomargarine by the people of the United States since the present law went into effect.

"Approximately 185,000,000 pounds of this 200,000,000 pounds were sold by oleomargarine manufacturers to dealers as uncolored oleomargarine and then in many cases sold to the ultimate consumer as butter. The remaining 15,000,000 pounds were made by butter manufacturers and sold as butter without the payment of any tax.

"The law imposes a tax of 10 cents a pound on colored oleomargarine and one-quarter of a cent a pound on the uncolored product. In perpetuating these frauds the oleomargarine manufacturers have paid only the one-quarter cent when they should have paid ten cents."

The announcement says that $6,000,000 frauds have been detected in two years and that as a consequence of the activity of the internal bureau, aided by the Department of Justice, receipts under the oleomargarine law in 1914 and 1915 have been 24 per cent of the total collections since 1902. Total collections from 1902 to 1913 were $9,628,685, while in 1914 and 1915 $3,041,040 was collected.

Violators of the law resorted to ignominious schemes to avoid payment of the tax. In many instances they purchased palm oil with which to color their product, imported it to their factories by circuitous routes and used it with other ingredients to mask it from detection. Butter manufacturers compounded "ladie butter" with oleomargarine oil, coloring the resulting product and putting it on the market as butter.

"While there was a total of approximately $27,000,000 in taxes due to the government from the larger offenders, continues the announcement, "only $4,650,000 was within the assessable period of two years fixed by the statutes, the remaining taxes being unassessable and recoverable only by suit. Steps will be taken to recover this balance.

"From one manufacturer alone it is believed that the total ocilettons will ultimately reach $1,150,000. These recoveries represent the seizure of plants, assessment of evaded taxes and negotiations to settle civil liability."

WIFE OF PRISON WARDEN CREMATED BY PRISONER

Woman Found Dead in Blazing Bed at Joliet, Ill.

Negro Prisoner, Used As Servant About the House Thought to Have Been Guilty of the Crime—Warden Away From Home.

Joliet, Ills., June 20.—Mrs. Edmund M. Allen, wife of the warden of the Illinois penitentiary, was found dead in her blazing bed today and a committee is trying to determine whether she accidentally set herself on fire or was slain and burned by George Campbell, a negro prisoner, who served the warden's family as personal servant. Mr. Allen was absent on a trip.

A jug of wood alcohol was found in the room after the fire was extinguished and members of the investigating committee said it was possible some of the fluid had been used in an effort to cremate Mrs. Allen.

The condition of the body prevented a satisfactory examination to determine whether Mrs. Allen had been attacked previously to the fire.

Mrs. Allen formerly was prima donna of a company presenting "The Merry Widow." Her maiden name was Odette Maizee Bordoux and her home was Los Angeles. She was 34 years old.

TURKS ACTIVE ON CAUCASIAN FRONT

As Well as Making Good Showing in Dardanelles.

TAKE THE OFFENSIVE

Official Statement From Constantinople Declares That Russians Defeated in Battle and Over 200 Slain.

Tiflis, June 19 (via Petrograd and London, June 20).—Operations in the Dardanelles apparently are having no effect on Turkish activity along the Caucasian front. The Turks are reported to have replaced in a comparatively short time the ninth army corps captured by the Russians at Sari Kamysh. They also have restored and supplied with ammunition the Tenth and Eleventh corps, reduced in numbers by fighting and disease.

The main Turkish concentration is taking place against Olti, Melo and Kiskin, of which line the first and sixth corps and the remainder of Halil Bey's army defeated at Dilman, are drawn up. In addition to attempting to prevent the Russians from outflanking Erzeum the Turks are undertaking offensive maneuvers.

Kurd leaders who were responsible for Armenian massacres in the Van district, have surrendered voluntarily to the Russians and are being deported to the interior with their dependents.

RUSSIANS ARE DEFEATED

Constantinople Official Statement Says 200 Killed in Battle.

Constantinople, June 20, (via London).—A Turkish war office statement today said:

"In a battle near Olti (trans-Caucasia, 55 miles west of Kars), 200 Russians were killed. Prisoners and war material were taken.

TURKS FIGHTING FAIRLY

Reuter's Correspondent at the Dardanelles Tells of Incidents There.

London, June 20.—A Reuter dispatch from the Dardanelles says:

"The Turks are fighting most fairly. In one case a Turk while under fire dressed the wounds of one of our men. In another case a Turk left a bottle of water with a wounded Australian soldier.

"A British soldier who had been lying wounded for many hours without food far from the British trenches, was given bread by a Turk. Prisoners who have escaped from the Turks all assert they were well treated."

BRITISH LOSSES HEAVY

Associated Press Correspondent in Undated Message Tells of Fighting.

Berlin, June 20, (via Wireless to Sayville).—The Associated Press correspondent in the Dardanelles has transmitted the following in an undated dispatch:

"British losses at Avis Burnu thus far are estimated at from 10 to 15 thousand. The Turkish losses are somewhat lower, although the Turks constantly are on the offensive and they make bayonet attacks almost every night.

"Field Marshal Liman von Sanders, the German commander, is highly optimistic regarding the outcome of the operations. He declared to The Associated Press that not only are the British unable to make progress, but they are losing ground daily.

"With the British fleet unable to assist in the land operations because of the submarine menace the British hold an Avi Burnu apparently is not as secure as it was.

ADVERTISERS GATHER FOR BIG CONVENTION

Chicago Full of Delegates to Great Meeting.

Windy City Thronged With Those in Attendance at Associated Advertising Clubs of the World —Address Yesterday.

Chicago, June 20.—Chicago was given over today to thousands of delegates to the anual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. They thronged hotel lobbies, appeared numerously in churches where 43 of their number delivered lay sermons, and attended a mass meeting.

Features of the mass meeting were the annual address of William Woodhead, of San Francisco, president of the organization and a speech by Joseph Davies, chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

President Woodhead reviewed the growth of the association, which a year ago, he said, went to Toronto as the Associated Advertising Clubs of America and came away with the remainder of the world taken into its name.

Mr. Davis said President Wilson had requested him to say that it was a matter of particular regret that he could not accept an invitation to be present.

BATHERS DROWNED AT ATLANTIC CITY

Seven Lose Lives in Heavy Sea —Prominent Socially.

UNDERCURRENT STRONG

Many Others Have Narrow Escapes—Four Philadelphians Drowned Elsewhere—Six Persons Lose Lives at New York.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 20. — Seven bathers, including prominent members of the Philadelphia summer colony, were drowned here today in a heavy sea. Scores of others were dragged to the beach in an unconscious condition after life-guards and other bathers had battled desperately to save their lives.

One other man was drowned when six fishing smacks capsized simultaneously, throwing a score of fishermen into the water.

Life guards say a storm caused an offset or gully between a sand bar a hundred yards out, and the beach. The offset extended the entire length of the beach, and with the development of the strong undercurrent the bathers were swept into water of unexpected depth. Many heroic rescues were made by members of the beach patrol and by volunteers, and several persons gave up their lives in efforts to save others.

Those Losing Lives.

The dead are:

John Lysle, 25, a prominent member of the junior bar, of Philadelphia.

Philip Arnold, 18.

Frank Brigam, 16.

Charles J. Matlock, 28.

James McCay and William Crowe.

All of Philadelphia.

Charles Green, the fisherman, who lost his life, resided here.

Arnold, Crowe, McCay and Matlock plunged into the surf to assist Walter Margerum, a guard, who had been knocked unconscious. All of the would be rescuers were drowned, while Margerum was brought ashore by another guard.

John Lysle was talking with friends on the beach when he heard Miss Craemer's call for help. He immediately went to hre assistance, but was carried away by the tide.

Brigam was drowned while his brother-in-law, Dr. John Coulter, was trying to bring him ashore. The physician was saved by other bathers.

FOUR OTHER PHILADELPHIANS.

Lose Lives in Waters Besides Those at Atlantic City.

Philadelphia, June 20. — Besides the seven drownings reported from Atlantic City, four Philadelphians were drowned, while bathing at various places today. Theodore George, 48 years old, lost his life in the surf at Wildwood; Herman Rosett was drowned in Montgomery county, and Max Rudnik, 24 years old, and Charles Helligman, 15, were drowned in the Delaware river.

SIX NEAR NEW YORK.

Waters Near Metropolis Claim Lives of Six—Several Foreigners.

New York, June 20.—Six persons were drowned in nearby waters today, four being victims of boating accidents.

Five foreigners were in a row boat that capsized on the Shrewsbury river, near Red Bank, N. J., and three of them sank. An unidentified fisherman fell from his boat in Sandy Hook bay and was drowned.

James R. Bruner, New York bank clerk, was drowned at Edgemere, L. I. Ruth Colley, a small child, was drowned at Ogdensburg, N. J.

DECISION IN FRANK CASE THIS MORNING

Condemned Man Confident Sentence to be Commuted.

Over Five Hundred Applications to See Prisoner Made During the Day But All Except His Family Are Turned Away.

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Governor Slaton stated tonight that he would hand down his opinion on Leo M. Frank's petition for commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment tomorrow, probably in the forenoon. The governor spent part of today working on his written opinion in which, he said, he would outline the reasons for his action in the case.

Frank, in his cell in the Fulton county jail, was hopeful tonight of executive clemency.

He is sentenced to be hanged Tuesday between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. The prisoner spent a quiet day, all visitors except his immediate family and intimate friends being denied admission to his cell. Jail officials estimated that no less than 500 persons requested to see him.

Letters and telegrams bearing on the case continued to arrive at the governor's office today, adding to the hundreds of messages which have been received since the prison commission made its recommendation to the governor against clemency.

MUSCOVITES MAKE DESPERATE STAND

But Armies Under General Mackensen Still Advance.

ARE NEARER LEMBERG

Russians Said to Be Making Desperate Resistance to German Advance in Galicia—German Official Statement Given Out.

Berlin, via London, June 20.—General Mackensen's armies are continuing their advance on Lemberg, after capturing Grodek, and have taken Russian trenches, one after another, along a front of almost 24 miles northwest of the city, where the Muscovites are making a desperate stand, according to a German army staff statement today:

The communication reads:

"West: North of Labasse canal and on the front north of Arras we repulsed several partial attacks with sanguinary losses for the enemy.

"In Champagne a French division which attacked after blowing up a trench, was shot down by our fire. French operations against our outposts in the Parroy forest led to local fighting, in which we maintained the upper hand.

"In the Vosges we were shelled by the French. Renewed enemy attacks in the Fecht Valley and south of that point failed.

"An enemy aircraft, one of a squadron which dropped bombs on Isheghem, in Flanders, without doing damage of military importance, was shot down. Several others were obliged to return. Another enemy aircraft was shot down near Vouziers, in Champagne.

In the East.

"East: Russian attacks against our lines in the vicinity of Szawle and Augustowo were beaten off.

"Our advance in small divisions resulted in the capture of advanced positions of the enemy near Buotbrzynieki and Zalesie, east of the Przasnysz—Myszenaenc road.

"Southeast: South of the Pilicia troops under General Von Worych have taken several advanced enemy positions during the last few days.

"The armies under General Von Mackensen have taken the Grodek position. Early yesterday morning German troops and the corps of Field Marshal Von Arz commenced an attack on strongly entrenched enemy lines. After stubborn fighting enemy trenches, one behind the other, almost along the entire front extending over a distance of 24 miles north of Janow (11 miles northwest of Lemberg) Bisputa and Obedynski and southeast of Rawa Ruska (32 miles northwest of Lemberg) had been stormed.

"In the evening the enemy was thrown back behind the high road to Zolkiew, north of Lemberg and Rawaruska. Under pressure of this defeat the enemy also is weakened in his communication between Grodek and the Dniester marshes, the enemy is hard pressed by Austro-German troops.

Between the Dniester marshes and the mouth of the river Stry the enemy has evacuated the southern bank of the Dniester."

PETROGRAD OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Declares That Germans Are Checked in Galicia—Review of Fighting.

Petrograd, via London, June 20.—A Russian official statement says:

"There is no change in the Shavli region. West of the Niemen river German attacks in the directions of Suwalki and Kalwarya, on June 17th and 18th, delivered with small forces, were repulsed.

"In the region at the mouth of the Rawka river, the enemy began an attack on the evening of June 17, but everywhere was repulsed by midnight.

"In Galicia, on the Tanew front, there were engagements with the advance guard. In the direction of Rawa Ruska, on the night of June 17 and 18, there were actions in the region of Nowina and Ulicko. From details of the battle in the region of Lubaczow, it appears that our cavalry, on June 15, made an exceptionally dashing charge against the German infantry during which the 91st German regiment was entirely sabred or dispersed.

"This attack caused a panic in the German ranks and arrested their offensive.

"On the front of Kamennyibrod-Komarno, advanced detachments of the enemy attempted on June 17 to cut their way through the lakes of Grodek, but were repulsed. An artillery and rifle duel continues.

"On the lower Nezuow, near the villages of Gorygliady and Dolina, the enemy threw great forces across the Dniester river, but all attempts to debouch from the deep, winding Dniester were successfully repulsed near the villages of Korepec and Snowidow. Between the Pruth and the Dniester rivers, there were stubborn actions. Our troops, on June 17, progressed on the front Onut-Boian."

MOSCOW SUFERS DAMAGE

Over Twenty Million Damage Done in Anti-German Rioting There.

Petrograd, via London, June 21. — Moscow suffered damage to the amount of $20,000,000 during the recent anti-German demonstrations in which nearly 500 stores and factories and more than 200 private lodgings were wrecked.

The infuriated mobs turned the city into wild disorder, according to eye witnesses. From music stores, pianos and other musical instruments were hurled into the streets until the piles of wreckage made traffic impossible.

The rioters, heated with liquor found in the demolished wine stores became reckless in their pillaging, burning many stores and apartments, the owners of which were Russians. Of the total number of buildings destroyed only 113 belonged to Austro-German subjects.

The demonstrations beginning early

GENERAL ANGELES IN UNITED STATES

Villa's Right Hand May Have Deserted Him

IS BOUND FOR BOSTON

Much Speculation Over Action of One of the Best Known Officers of Mexican Army—May Mean New Revolution Soon.

Washington, June 20.—General Felipe Angeles, artillery expert and General Villa's right hand man, is in the United States en route to Boston, Mass., to visit his family, according to word that reached the United States government tonight from its border agents. These reports said Angeles had crossed into American territory secretly last Friday night.

Officials here were unable to throw much light on the reasons for the Angeles' departure at a time when his services to Villa in the military campaign would seem to be vitally needed. One explanation advanced was that Angeles was coming to the United States to confer with prominent Mexicans who have been living in exile, taking no part in the revolutionary activity but who lately have been planning to form a coalition with some of the forces in the field to enable them to get the active "moral support" which President Wilson announced in his recent statement the United States soon would give some group unless the warring factions could agree among themselves.

Headed for Washington.

A news dispatch from El Paso said that General Angeles was on his way to Washington to represent the military general and that Miguel Diax Lobardo, foreign minister would report at the border in a few days en route to Washington to represent the conventionalist civil government, in a new peace plan.

Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of the Villa-Zapata government said he had heard nothing of Angeles' movements. The Carranza agency gave out a statement pointing out that Angeles probably never would return to Villa's standard and said the Angeles element admitted that the recent defeat at Leon was a virtual annihilation of the Villista forces and that Villa's days were numbered.

Many officials seem to take the view also that Angeles had left because of personal difficulties which began shortly before the battle Celaya, in which Villa lost the first important contest of his military career. He was without the services of Angeles then and rumors were current at the time of a personal disagreement.

With Angeles' move coming on the heels of the split between General Carranza and his commander-in-chief General Obregon, some officials were encouraged to believe that out of the tangle might come a new alignment comprising the best elements of the Carranza and Villa factions forming an organisation which might if successful in dominating the situation, be accorded recognition by the United States.

Angeles' History.

General Angeles served under President Diaz and was one of the first to proclaim his loyalty to President Madero after the latter was elected President. During the uprising in Mexico City he stood by Madero until the last, but when General Huerta obtained control of the situation he remained in Mexico City under surveillance by Huerta. The latter finally gave Angeles a foreign mission with the understanding it has often been said, that he would not join the Constitutionalists movement then in its infancy.

After a trip to Europe, Angeles joined General Carranza becoming subsecretary of war. When personal differences between General Carranza and Villa arose, Angeles stood by Villa.

Recently there have been reports that Angeles would join one of the groups of Mexicans now in this country and said to be planning a new revolution in Mexico. Eduardo Iturbide and others prominent in Mexican politics who declare they are liberal in their political principles, but have not been connected with Carranza, Villa or Zapata, are understood to be identified with the new movement, and in diplomatic quarters here this organization is pointed to as the one which President Wilson might have had in mind in his recent statement that if the active military factions did not accommodate their differences the active moral support of the United States would be given in some "man or group of men" who seemed to give promise of setting up a stable government.

No further information was received today through official channels from Vera Cruz concerning the resignation of the four cabinet ministers whom General Obregon has insisted should be retained.

CAN SHIP SUPPLIES.

Carranza Perfectly Willing for Red Cross to Send Food Into Mexico.

Laredo, Texas, June 20.—Gustavo Espinosa Mirales, private secretary to General Carranza, and General Alfarado Ricaut, Carranza commander at Neuvo Laredo, today assured General C. A. Devol of the American Red Cross that Carranza officials would not oppose the transportation of Red Cross supplies through territory controlled by the Constitutionalists. The Mexican officials declared, however, that reports of food shortage in Mexico were greatly exaggerated. Alonzo B. Garrett, United States consul, accompanied General Devol to Neuvo Laredo where the conference was held.

Two hundred refugees, including four Americans, arrived here today. One American said Monterey was quiet and asserted that the supplies of foodstuffs now available in that city were ample.

Pasadena, Cal., June 20.—Former Congressman William S. Cowherd, of Missouri, died here tonight. He was 55 years old.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS START UPWARD RUSH

New York Americans Also Recover From Severe Slump.

Two Chicago Teams Keep Up Fast Playing and Both Keep Tight Hold on Top Places—Detroit Nosed Out Second Place.

New York, June 20.—The upward rush of the St. Louis Nationals and the showing of the New York Americans after a slump which had landed them in the second division were features of the baseball week. Both these teams occupy well entrenched places, the Cardinals in particular being in a position where they are likely to give the leaders serious trouble if they keep up anything like their recent work.

Discerning baseball eyes have been turned for some time on Miller Huggins' team. Huggins has rounded into form an infield that is playing gilt-edged ball, while his outfield is proving a capable combination. The St. Louis pitchers are going well and the happy co-ordination of good work by all departments is bringing results.

While St. Louis has been climbing Chicago has shown no signs of faltering and by winning four games during the week pushed the Philadelphians out of first place. Today St. Louis by beating Boston down another notch the Cardinals advancing to second place.

Two pronounced losing streaks were developed during the week, both the Bostons and the Brooklyns dropping five of six games. The Braves' slump has been disheartening to Boston fans, who are praying for the return of Johnny Evers.

The American League situation grows increasingly interesting. Even St. Louis which dropped at a fast rate by losing six straight games, rallied today and beat Detroit which had to surrender second position during the week to Boston. The Tigers are only three games ahead of the Yankees. Philadelphia has plumped into the cellar again and the Clevelands, like the Browns, are on the downward trend. The Washingtons failed to live up to the promise furnished by their good work of the week previous and, only by grace of Walter Johnson's effectiveness yesterday kept the record up to the .500 mark.

Nothing seems to stop the Chicago leaders. Cleaning up four of five games last week, they started in promisingly again today by taking both ends of a doubleheader from the Indians and increased their lead over the Red Sox to 40 points.

Even the Cleveland wonder, Guy Morton, could not check their scoring propensities while their work in the field has improved notably as indicated in their last seven games they have made only five errors. Notable as has been the upward drive of the Red Sox their progress toward over-taking Clarence Rowland's team has proven far from rapid while the Tigers despite the continued brilliant work of Cobb and some of his teammates have been retrograding.

The record of games played, won and lost with runs, hits, errors and men left on bases:

Kansas City contnues to hold the lead in the Federal League. The Missourians are being followed closely by the St. Louis team with a record of ten straight victories, four of which are set down to the credit of Otis Crandall. Pittsburgh has been on the downward trend.

The feature of the week was the shift in the Newark management, Phillips being replaced by McKechnie, the team's third baseman.

FAST GAME AT SUNSET SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Giants Defeat W. L. I. Two to Nothing—"Y" Wins.

Register Pitches One Hit Game for the Giants—Kite Stole Home—Both Pitchers Wild—Y. M. C. A. Defeats Brigade Three to One.

In an exciting and fast played ball game between the Giants and W. L. I. of the City League at Sunset Park Saturday afternoon "Happy" Register with the support of his team, established a record for inexpensive wildness and pitched the Giants to a two-to-nothing victory over the Infantry boys. Register walked nine men during the nine inning game, several times as many as three in one inning, but never allowed a man to cross the plate, holding the Soldier Boys to one lone hit garnered by Fillyaw in the fourth inning.

Green, on the mound for the W. L. I., allowed four hits, one in the second, third, fifth and sixth innings. He also showed a good deal of wildness at times, walking five men. Kite, for the Giants, stole home in the fourth inning, bringing from the grandstand repeated rounds of applause.

The first game between the Boys' Brigade and the Y. M. C. A. was well played, the Brigade boys seemingly unable to overcome their streak of bad luck, losing by the close score of three to one. Jacobs outpitched Shaw, allowing only three hits, all of which were gotten by Buck. The "Y" boys found Shaw for a total of nine hits. Huhn carried off the batting honors, getting two doubles and a home run out of four times to the plate. Buck's three hits were singles out of four times up. Both teams played excellent ball.

Greater interest is being taken in the play at Sunset Park, a good crowd being in attendance Saturday. The class of ball offered by the City League teams is fast improving as the games of Saturday and the Saturday before when a twelve-inning, six-to-five game was played, demonstrate. The fans of Wilmington have an opportunity to witness some of the fastest amateur games to be seen and are availing themselves of the opportunity. The ladies are especially showing interest in the games and are royally welcomed by the management of the League.

Score of the games Saturday by innings follow:

First game—
Boys' Brigade . . 000 010 000—1 3 2
Y. M. C. A. . . . 000 020 01*—3 9 1

Summary: Stolen bases, McIntyre, Smith, F., Boswell, Palmgreen, Litchen. Sacrifice hits, Register, H., Wells, Smith, F., Morton, Boswell (3), Sheppard, C. Two-base hits, Morton, Huhn (2), Wilson. Home runs, Huhn. Struck out, by Jacobs 7, by Shaw 5. Base on balls, off Jacobs 3, off Shaw 1. Hit batsmen, McIntyre, Boswell, Wilson. Time of game, 1 hour and 35 minutes. Umpire, Pat Crelley.

Second game—
Giants . . . . . 000 011 00*—2 4 0

Summary: Stolen bases, Fillyaw, Davis, (2), Taylor (2). Sacrifice hits, Wagner, Hines, Kite. Struck out, by Green 6, by Register 10. Base on balls, off Green 5, off Register 9. Hit batsmen, Houston. Time of game, 1 hour and 40 minutes. Umpire, Crelley.

HARD FIGHT FOR LEAD IN VIRGINIA LEAGUE

Newport News Leads With Rocky Mount Second

Tar Heels Close Behind Leaders—All Teams in Circuit Have Chance to Win the Pennant—Half Season Closes July 1.

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 20. — With nine playing dates ahead in the first half season in the Virginia League there is a merry scramble on for first place, and there is practically a chance for all, even though winning streak records for the leagues' history have been rung up, and another club has equalled the best of the winning during the nine seasons of the circuit's existence. This week's closing finds Newport News leading the league by the narrow margin of one and a half games over Rocky Mount, while neither of these clubs have any safe hold since Norfolk, Petersburg and Portsmouth are within a distance that an effective winning streak on the home stretch might nose ahead.

Newport News, through the first three days of the week, continued her winning, trouncing the Portsmouth club three successive days during which time she wrote into baseball history in this league a new record of 14 straights won. For the runner up position this week has found a shift in that Norfolk rested there over the week end last week, after taking the big half of the series with the Tar Heels, this week, however, finds Norfolk holding third place only by a slender half game, following a rather disastrous week, having dropped four straight to the Tar Heels, to return home for the week end to raise last year's pennant and drop two out of three to Suffolk. Portsmouth, after losing all to Newport News, has closed the week-end by taking two from Petersburg.

Since a decision comes July 1st, when there is to start a new series, it is interesting to note the slate that confronts the stronger contestants.

Newport News opens the week with a series at home with Norfolk with a double bill one day, while the last of the week the Shipbuilders journey back across the Roads for three games and a double bill on the Sailor lot. Norfolk has been a nightmare to Newport News thus far this season, and when Norfolk took the leadership some weeks ago with twelve straight games won, that list was fattened at the expense of the Shipbuilders. On the other hand Petersburg, the club that clashes for the first of the week with the Tar Heels, has been a great source of worry to that club, until recently, and then the capture of a whole series by the Carolinians was in retaliation to a like capture by the Nuts. For the week-end the runners up in the circuit go to Portsmouth for three games and two out of three, after hard hitting is the best the Tar Heels have ever been able to do against the team from Truckertown.

Next week finds a shift that will be even more advantageous to the victors of the week that is ahead, and the closing series of three games before July 1st will have the present league leaders battling the club that is one and a half games behind them, while the two next clubs pressing for third place at this time by close margins, namely Norfolk and Petersburg, will battle for three days, while Portsmouth and Suffolk close the first half together, the first named having a great chance as yet to occupy a place well up in the list or to chase off with the honor. Suffolk is really the only club that may be counted out in the running, and her winnig would be a history-making event in baseball, though it is possible.

The past week has seen a stormy time in Portsmouth, where resentful fans who abhor the league ruling prohibiting five men or more that have played Class B ball or better from being members of one team, have attempted a boycott of the game, and attendance has fallen off to almost nothing. It took a visit of President J. O. Boatwright to patch things up and a call for a meeting of the league on Monday to finally thrash out the matter. Portsmouth's club was mowing down its opponents in great style until the final ban was placed by the directors and two players were released and since that time Manager Clark has hardly been breaking even, and the toboggan has threatened him several times. This club, it is announced, now will stick through the season, and there has been a successful rallying force at work there within the past several days.

The Truckers announce the signing of Lee Galvin, former manager of Shreveport. It is expected this player will bring about the desired effect in strengthening the receiving end, a point that has been weak all season and explains more games lost than any other station.

Norfolk continues her work at strengthening and with the release this week of Reeder, a high school player of promise, they announce the securing of Bruce, captain and outfielder of V. P. I. this year, who is loaned by Clark Griffith for more seasoning. This addition, it is expected, will remedy the imperative use of a catcher in the outfield, a practice that has cost the Tars games in this series. This club will be strengthened further in the addition about July 1st of former Manager Buck Pressley, who will play with them for several weeks.

Cornell and Columbia will be contenders in the races on the Hudson river, at Poughkeepsie, an event which is attracting more attention every year. In time this is likely to become the college rowing event, which will far overshadow the race of Harvard and Yale at New London.

Columbia and Cornell have both won races in past years. The experts have not yet dared to make definite predictions about their performances this year. The Pacific Coast crew from Leland Stanford, Jr., University, may cut a figure, since it is the champion of the coast crews.

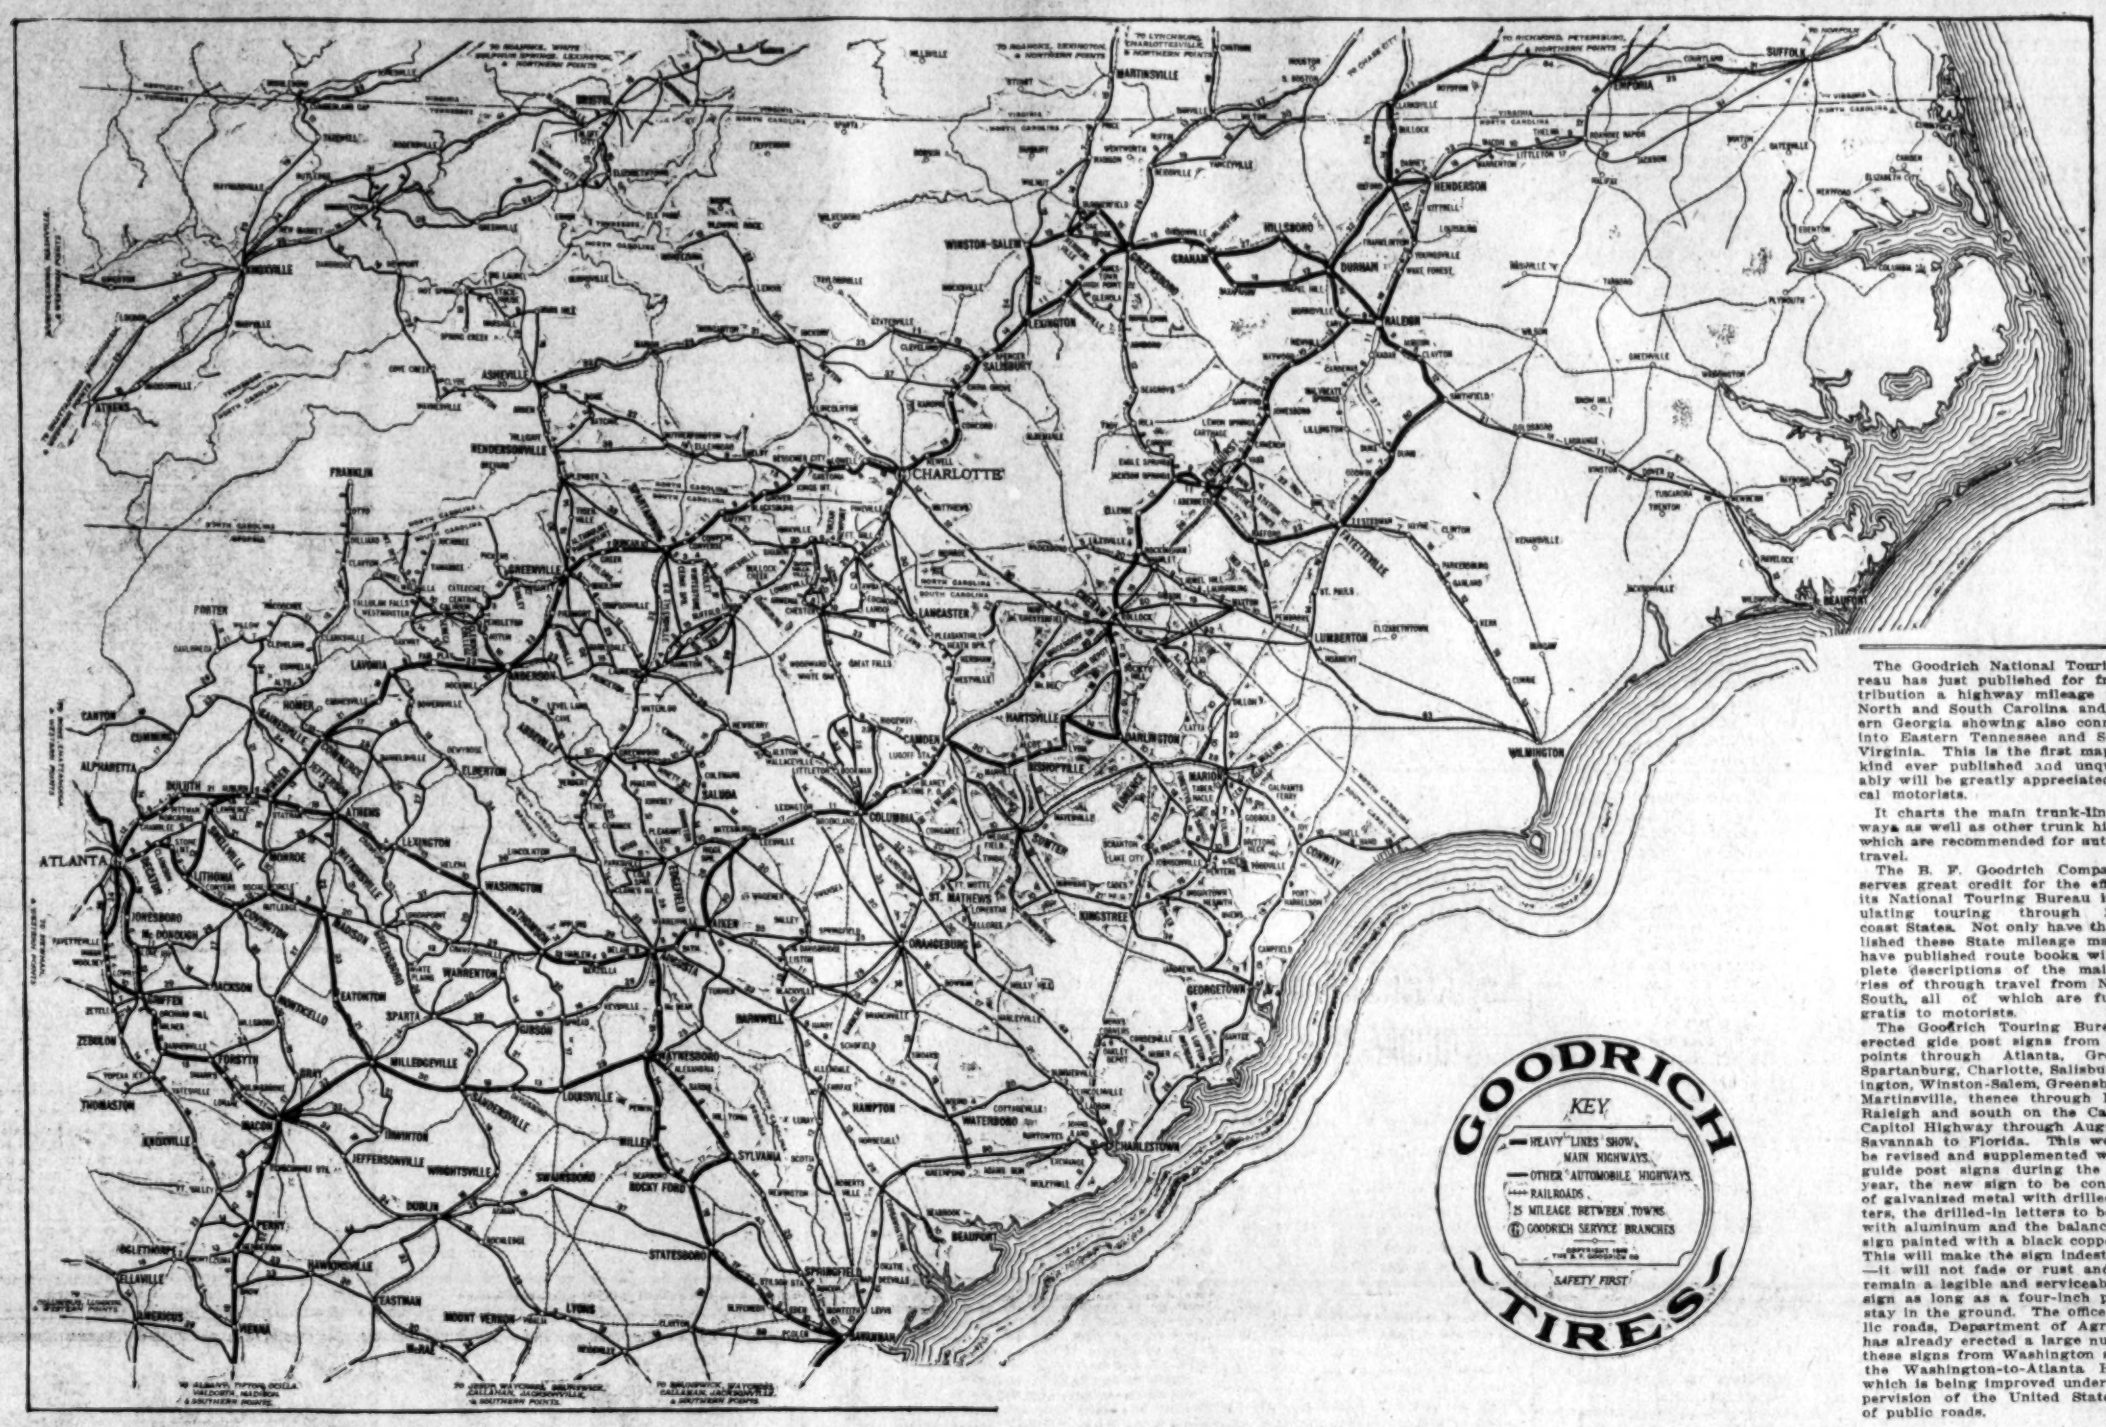
HIGHWAY MILEAGE MAP OF THE CAROLINAS



The Goodrich National Touring Bureau has just published for free distribution a highway mileage map of North and South Carolina and northern Georgia showing also connections into Eastern Tennessee and Southern Virginia. This is the first map of its kind ever published and unquestionably will be greatly appreciated by local motorists.

It charts the main trunk-line highways as well as other trunk highways which are recommended for automobile travel.

The B. F. Goodrich Company deserves great credit for the efforts of its National Touring Bureau in stimulating touring through Atlantic coast States. Not only have they published these State mileage maps, but have published route books with complete descriptions of the main arteries of through travel from North to South, all of which are furnished gratis to motorists.

The Goodrich Touring Bureau has erected gide post signs from Florida points through Atlanta, Greenville, Spartanburg, Charlotte, Salisbury, Lexington, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Martinsville, thence through Durham, Raleigh and south on the Capitol to Capitol Highway through Augusta and Savannah to Florida. This work will be revised and supplemented with new guide post signs during the present year, the new sign to be constructed of galvanized metal with drilled-in letters, the drilled-in letters to be coated with aluminum and the balance of the sign painted with a black copper wash. This will make the sign indestructable—it will not fade or rust and should remain a legible and serviceable guide sign as long as a four-inch post will stay in the ground. The office of public roads, Department of Agriculture, has already erected a large number of these signs from Washington south on the Washington-to-Atlanta Highway which is being improved under the supervision of the United States office of public roads.

MODERN SMUGGLER IS ACTIVE IN HOLLAND

Has Taken the Place of the Romantic Smuggler of Old.

The Rotterdam Smuggler of Today is Chiefly Interested in Getting Contraband Out of the Country Rather Than In.

The romantic smuggler waiting for a dark night to run his lugger ashore in a cove and then bury his bales and barrels in the sand, has disappeared, but the trade still flourishes and probably brings more profit than ever, especially just now in Holland. The modern smuggler here, however, is chiefly interested in getting contraband out of the country, rather than bringing it in, says a Rotterdam correspondent of the Associated Press.

A visitor to an up-to-date smuggler's den, of which a number exist in the center of Rotterdam, would probably find a middle-aged clerkly German dressed in a well-cut business suit at a desk. In front of him, small heaps of spices, grain of various species, oilcake and raw rubber and sample bottles of burning and lubricating oils. From time to time the smuggler chief takes the telephone receiver down, calls a number and bargains in terse phrases over the prices of job-lots of the articles, samples of which lie before him, sent for his approval by merchants and dealers who held stocks more or less extensive before the new and strict government regulations calling for an inventory were issued.

Then follow other telephone calls on shippers or their skippers. The smuggler chief is trying to arrange for the transport of his illicit exports across the border line, into Germany or Belgium. Freights for this trade are high and the smuggler's efforts are directed towards beating down the shipper to as low a figure as possible; but the shipper holds out, for he knows smuggled goods bring high rates when safely brought to their destination.

Torture would not force the smugglers to disclose the methods by which they manage to forward the contraband beyond the closely guarded frontier. It is hinted, however, that many railroad cars ostensibly conveying freight from Holland to Denmark and from Denmark to Holland are mysteriously uncoupled and disappear while passing over the intervening German territory. Dutch fishing boats, too are often seized off the coast by German patrol boats and taken into German ports, whence they are released after their cargoes have been unloaded to the evident satisfaction of the skippers.

Dozens of Rhine lighters pass daily up and down the river whose course runs through Germany and Holland, and occasionally one is held up because of the presence of illicit cargo; but it is possible that for each one stopped a number of others pass muster with forbidden goods on board and are received with welcome by the German authorities. From numerous points along the frontier, closely guarded though it is by Dutch troops, come reports of cattle and horses being driven across into German territory where the lines of sentinels are thin or woods prevent a clear view.

The gains to be secured by the running of contraband are so tempting that the efforts of the authorities have been rendered futile. Practically half the Dutch troops now mobilized are engaged in guarding the frontiers, not against foreigners, but against Dutchmen trying to pass contraband. It is difficult, however, to guard every yard of the border line and if the attention of a sentry can be distracted for only a few minutes this gives the wily smuggler his chance to get across with his goods.

The Dutch soldier, himself until recently a civilian, naturally dislikes shooting at his own countrymen, even when they are observed in the act of evading the law. The government has therefore been compelled to offer some inducement to augment this alertness in putting a stop to this profitable trade, whose success brings the government into many difficulties with the belligerent powers, who accuse the Dutch of acts not in accord with strict neutrality. A reward amounting to 10 per cent of the value of goods seized in illegal transit is now offered to the soldiers and this has had such effect on their watchfulness that captures of smugglers are becoming more frequent daily. On several occasions recently soldiers have shot and killed smugglers who have defied their summons to halt while engaged in contraband running. One soldier is reported to have received $400 as his share of the reward for stopping a large parcel of smuggled goods just as it was about to be taken across the border.

OLD LANDMARK BURNED

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, June 20.—Last night between 9 and 10 o'clock the old "Lawson Home," just a mile out on the Fayetteville road, was destroyed by fire, caused by the explosion of a lamp. It was one of the old landmarks of this section and was owned by Mr. A. W. McLean. The building was occupied by colored people who lost nearly everything. The first department was called out but the fire was not within reach of any water connection.

"BRYAN PEACE PARTY" WILL NEVER EXIST

By J. Blanding Haman.

William Jennings Bryan, who until recently was the Secretary of State in the cabinet of President Woodrow Wilson, has a great following in the United States. His recent resignation in a time of grave international stress undoubtedly has caused some of his friends to leave the ranks but as it grows more apparent that his resignation has caused no international complications there is a growing tendency among his former friends to forget the great mistake he made and to renew their support of him.

The greatest danger to be feared as a result of his withdrawal from the cabinet just at the time as he did is the effect it will have upon the rank and file of the Democratic party. Bryan is still a Democrat and will ever be a Democrat, he is a politician and will ever be a politician. That his resignation was conscientiously offered cannot be doubted. No one believes that he wilfully selected a time of great international stress to take a move that would further his own political aspirations, but Bryan is enough of a politician to take any political advantage his resignation might bring about.

Bryan may have aspirations to be President but he is too big a Democrat to let any personal aspirations of his disrupt the party and while he may feel the pulse of the people, so to speak, to learn their views upon his candidacy, should he find them averse to his offering himself for the nomination he would with hearty good will support whoever the rank and file Democrats want. Bryan thoroughly demonstrated that side of his character at the Baltimore convention when Woodrow Wilson was nominated as a candidate for the Presidency.

While Bryan himself would support the man wanted by the rank and file there are those in the party who would not turn back after starting on a course set by him and in that way he might become the unwilling cause of a break in the party. Already there is a tendency among his followers to form the "Bryan Peace Party" with the set purpose of establishing the "new system" of Bryan over the "old system" as followed by Woodrow Wilson. This tendency is wrong and is not what Bryan had in view when he resigned to take up as a private citizen his efforts to bring about a desire for peace. Bryan is not opposed to President Wilson as some of his staunch followers seem to think. His resignation was not because of political differences with the President but because he differed with the Chief Executive on his foreign attitude. Politically Bryan is still the ardent supporter of President Wilson as the leader of the Democratic party, he is still one of the biggest men in the Democratic party and as such he will be found fighting to advance the interests of the Democratic party. The followers of Bryan will do well to note these facts and put an immediate check to any attitude taken that would seem to indicate that President Wilson and their political idol are at odds.

That Bryan made a grave mistake when he resigned must be admitted but because he made this mistake he has not been read out of the party and he has not attempted to read anyone else out of the party. He is still as ardent a Democrat as any in the ranks and that fact will soon be demonstrated when the Presidential campaign opens up.

In his resignation Bryan has shown that he is far the inferior to Woodrow Wilson in statesmanship and while the former Secretary of State possibly would make a good President in times of peace and under ordinary circumstances recent acts of his also show that he would not be competent to hold that exalted position in times of great stress and international crises. Bryan himself in all probability knows this fact and will not offer as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President. If he can curb his political aspirations and refraine from asking for another nomination he will raise himself far above his present status in the opinion of the people of the United States and will have such a following as few before him ever enjoyed.

The great mass of the Democratic party believe in Bryan and recognize in him a great politician and a great and good man, but they also realize that he is ambitious. The followers of Bryan will do almost anything he advises politically except vote for him for President. The people of the Democratic party know that Bryan is not Presidential timber and the greatest mistake that the party could make would be to again nominate him as a candidate for that exalted position.

It fell to the lot of William Jennings Bryan to be directly responsible for the nomination of Woodrow Wilson, it was his pleasure to help elect him and it has been his pleasant duty to uphold his hands and lend him counsel since his election. There is no doubt as to the friendship that exists between these two great men, Wilson and Bryan, but of the two Wilson is the greater and the other realizing it upholds him and will in all things political lend him his support.

The ardent followers of Bryan who, "seeing as through a glass darkly" took his resignation as Secretary of State to mean the birth of another party such as the Taft-Roosevelt break resulted in the origin of the Progressive party, met a shock when they read of the address Bryan delivered Saturday night at a labor Peace Convention at New York in which he attacked former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt as leading sponsors for organizations which stand for the use of force in international affairs and upheld President Wilson asking for him the hearty cooperation and support of the laboring class in his efforts to keep this country out of war and in the efforts he soon would have the privilege to exert toward peace in Europe.

Williams Jennings Bryan is nothing if not a Democrat. He has made a mistake. It is possible that he doesn't realize it. The world does and especially the ranks of the Democratic party. It is up to the ranks of that party to see that none of those who got the mistaken idea when he resigned are allowed to cause a break in the lines. One man in Massachusetts has already announced as a candidate for governor of that state on the socalled "Bryan Peace Platform" when there is no such thing except in the imagination of a few people who failed to

TOP O' THE MORNING

To have what we want is riches; to be able to do without is power.

—MACDONALD.

"What is so rare as a day in June"—at Wrightsville Beach?

The natural gait of some men is running fast for the sidetrack.

Don't sell human beings bread over which numerous flies have disported themselves.

A demand is not as good as a request when there is neither intention nor preparedness to enforce it.

In spite of everything that is going on, the world is making progress—scientific and worldly progress.

A whole lot of American opinion has been expressed before the time came to consider the consequences.

A man who knows that he ought to take to the right ought not to depend on a barker to tell him what to do.

Any newspaper can quit printing the statements or addresses of any man of national and international fame if it so desires, but no paper can stop the people from reading them.

The Jacksonville Times-Union asserts that "the party out of power never objects to the idea of a coalition government." However, allies which are lacking in affinity are soon parted.

The Georgia legislature is to meet in a few weeks, and again will consider amendments to the prohibition act. If the legislature could only amend the ways of the Georgians, there would be no necessity for more prohibition legislation.

"Suppose Jones kills Smith's cat, and Smith kills Jones' dog, would Smith be justified in retaliation against his neighbor?" Well, it all depends on whether Mrs. Smith was right behind Smith accusing him of cowardice if he did not do his duty.

A man has the privilege of taking passage on any ship he wants to go on, even if it is leaking or liable to be torpedoed. However, a man who insists on his privilege in spite of the danger, should be careful not to meet up with the fool killer.

An expert made a "community survey" to ascertain why a community was making no progress. He found that its resources were great, but his conclusion was that the lack of progress of the community was due to its inefficient and trifling people. It made the people mad and they chased him for a mile, but their road was so bad they had to turn back and let the expert get away from them.

About this time next year the Republicans will be trying to persuade us that we will have prosperity if we will vote for the government to aid a few special interests by levying tariff taxes in their behalf. Labor is told that the tariff is levied to save it from competition with Europe's pauper labor, but sooner or later labor has to save itself by striking in order to keep from being pauperized itself.

It is all a mistaken idea that international agreement is any guarantee that humane principles will actuate men during war. A war dispatch from a European capital a few days ago admitted that a certain army had been forced to retreat, but "the gratifying information had been received that the whole battlefield for miles was strewn with the enemy's dead." No man or woman can have a single humane inspiration when he or she can actually be gratified that the slaughter was great. War stirs all the brutish passions and instincts of people, and we would be shocked, if, during peace times, they could hear gentlemen and ladies give expression to thoughts that only a savage could entertain.

"NORTH CAROLINA CALLS YOU."

Unless the people of North Carolina wake up, their State is going to lag behind in development while other States, by reason of their development will continue to draw upon North Carolina for tens of thousands of its native population, including many of its best men. States with far less of resources, advantages and opportunities than are possessed by North Carolina have attracted away from this State so many of its own people that in 1910, when the last census was taken, 237,229 native North Carolinians were living in other States. These are living North Carolinians and there is no good reason why they should not be living in their own State and contributing to the development of its wonderful resources.

"North Carolina Calls You!" That is the brief but inspiring slogan which heads an appeal to every patriotic and public-spirited North Carolinian to attend a meeting at Raleigh on Tuesday morning, June 29th, for the purpose of starting a movement to attract the attention of those living in other states to the wonderful resources and advantages of North Carolina and to give impetus to her development.

The purpose of the meeting at Raleigh is to organize a State-wide association for the virile purpose of advertising to the outside world the varied and marvelous resources of the State from the seashore to the mountains and the Tennessee line. It is the object of the promoters of the association to organize at once and plan a comprehensive campaign that will secure results. This forward movement was suggested some time ago by Secretary J. C. Forrester, of the Greensboro chamber of commerce, and the call for the meeting is evidently the result of his strong and persistent agitation of its tremendous importance and necessity. It is signed by 26 of the best known and most substantial citizens of the various sections of the State, and they urge good men from every county to join them in this patriotic and practical movement. Among those who have signed the call are such men as Gen. Julian S. Carr, A. W. McLean, Henry A. Page, O. L. Joyner, J. Van Lindley, and others of equal prominence, showing that the movement in its incipiency has the very best of backing that any movement could possibly have in North Carolina.

New Hanover and other Eastern North Carolina counties especially ought to take a very active and conspicuous part in the Raleigh meeting and the campaign to be planned, for it is in this section, perhaps, more than any other part of the State, where the development is small in comparison with the resources. Yet the whole State suffers for lack of having properly emphasized its resources and for indifference to the various advantages and opportunities offered in all quarters of the State to new comers. It is a good idea to organize systematically for this new undertaking.

In the call, it is emphasized that the State is losing in the race of states by not having her resources known to the outside world, while other states, by having made known their resources and advantages, in many instances not to be compared with those in North Carolina, have drawn heavily upon this State's population. The astonishing fact is repeated that at present 160,000 more native North Carolinians are now citizens of other states than there are citizens of other states residing in North Carolina. The difference is astounding and ought to be alarming. It is conservatively estimated that these absentee North Carolinians represent a loss to the State of $200,000,000, not considering the wealth that these people would create were they here developing their own State.

The leading spirits who sign the call for that Raleigh meeting are convinced that something has to be done and they consider that it can be done only through organization. They remind us that there are two important reasons why the progressive men of the State should join forces in making known the potentialities and possibilities of North Carolina. For instance, let us quote here from the call the following impressive declaration:

"In 1910 there were 237,229 white North Carolinians living in other states, and but 75,073 natives of other states living in North Carolina. The balance is against us in every state in the union except Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont. Those three states had 358 North Carolinians, while 612 natives of those states were living in North Carolina.

"We ought to concern ourselves to ascertain why there were 74,000 North Carolinians in Virginia and only 30,000 Virginians in North Carolina; why there were 29,000 North Carolinians in Tennessee and only 8,000 Tennesseeans in North Carolina; why there were 20,000 North Carolinians in Georgia and only 6,500 Georgians in North Carolina. Does any intelligent North Carolinian believe the natural opportunities in Virginia, Tennessee or Georgia are superior to North Carolina? Then why is it that nearly 135,000 of our citizens have gone to those states, while but 45,000 of their citizens have come to us? What would these 90,000 people we have lost, in excess of what we have gained, be worth to our state? There are 160,000 more North Carolinians in other states than there are natives of others states in North Carolina. The average wealth of the United States is $1,300 per capita. On this basis these people are worth over 200 millions to North Carolina. Is it worth while to spend $50,000 or $100,000 annually in an effort to stop this tremendous drain on our resources? This proposed organization should devote its best thought in solving this problem; to admit that it cannot be solved is to admit incompetence.

"North Carolina has relatively a smaller number of natives of other states than any state in the union. Five per cent. of North Carolina's population was born in other states; Maine and Pennsylvania have eight per cent.; New York, South Carolina and Kentucky have ten per cent.; all other states have more than ten per cent., running as high as 73 per cent. Wyoming, Washington, Oregon and California, persistent advertisers for years, have 70 per cent., 60 per cent. and 50 per cent., respectively. Florida, the only conspicuous advertiser in the old south, has 35 per cent., while no other southeastern state has more than 17 per cent. Does not this indicate that advertising properly conducted does get results?

"We must keep more of our own people at home and attract more of those born in other states or be content to be tailenders, and surely there is enough brains, energy and money in North Carolina to prevent such a deplorable condition. Both patriotism and good business judgment demand that we solve this problem."

The record is immensely to the disadvantage of North Carolina, and men who love their State should organize and call a halt on the drain upon our population, as well as turn the tide in this direction by making known the vast, undeveloped resources of North Carolina to the native citizens of other states where the advantages and opportunities do not compare with those here. At least something should be done to attract as many people from other states as they are getting from us. However, there is no need of our losing our natives if we develop our State or take steps to bring about its development.

This movement is in line, in its purpose, with a resolution adopted by the North Carolina Merchants' Association in its annual meeting in Asheville last week, urging the Legislature to make an adequate appropriation for the purpose of advertising the resources and advantages of this State in other sections of the country. Doubtless many of the members of the Merchants' Association will join forces when the movement is launched at Raleigh next week.

Incidentally, it might be said, that many of the North Carolina newspapers are doing much in exphasizing and pointing out the resources and opportunities in the State, but in the very nature of things this has little effect so far as concerns making an impression on people who ought to be impressed a thousand miles away.

LAUNCHED PEACE MOVEMENT

The Hon. William Jennings Bryan can be said to have launched a peace movement, another one, perhaps, on Saturday night in New York. He addressed a large audience of laboring men who held a peace meeting at Carnegie Hall. He declared to his audience that he could find no more favorable auspices than those at Carnegie Hall for beginning the work which he felt it his duty to perform—aiding "in crystalizing sentiment in favor of peace in support of the President in his efforts to reach an amicable settlement of all differences that may, during the war, arise between this country and belligerent powers."

Colonel Bryan is in earnest and he feels that he has a mission to perform. It is a noble one and certainly it will be more congenial work than that he did in the State Department at Washington. Colonel Bryan as good as said in his New York speech that President Wilson is engaged in peace work and that he proposes to aid him in that work. He has been charged by a portion of the press with fomenting opposition to the President's policy in handling the controversy with Germany, but evidently President Wilson does not occupy such a jingo attitude as probably the press has conceived that he does. Colonel Bryan thinks the President's aim is peace, and he proposed to chrystalize support of President Wilson's peace plans.

Colonel Bryan is an anti-war man. He is the new apostle of peace. He is an optimist. He is against armament. He is for disarmament. The world would be much better off if it only had peace, and mankind would be happier, but peace for the world is a theory. Even if it is, there is no need of abandoning it. Yet the outlook has been discouraging for 1915 years. Not more so than before, to be sure.

The Prince of Peace Himself, came on earth and preached "peace and good will toward men," but man was not ready for peace. He rose up and crucified the worlds' greatest pacifist. There is no wonder, therefore, that man seems to be ready to despise and reject Colonel Bryan as the apostle of peace.

Considering how prone man is to reject peace and its great advocates, it is not safe to disarm, as Colonel Bryan advocates. He optimistically assumes that the world is growing better and that men can be controlled by reason and persuasion. Precedent has been to the contrary from the days of Christ down to 1915 A. D. The world would not even heed the Prince of Peace Himself.

It is well for Colonel Bryan and all the world to keep on preaching peace, but in the event that mankind will reject the advice, it is safer to keep in a state of preparedness.

Colonel Bryan can speak only for this generation. He assumes that people are growing better and will be prepared for complete peace and disarmament. The precedents do not bear out his optimism. The world's people may even be worse twenty-five years from now than those of this generation. Probably not. How can we know? We have no such thing as peace ourselves and we cannot guess so far in advance as to disarm, under the mere belief that future generations of the different nations will not care to fight.

If men were all to become idealists like Col. Bryan there would be no more war. We hope men will reach such an ideal stage. We have our doubts.

THE BAB HOSPITAL

The baby hospital for Wilmington is assured. What a monument to benevolence it will be! Greater still will it be as an institution for the alleviation of the sufferings of the tenderest members of humanity and the most lovable of all creation—the tiny, innocent babes. Wilmington has a great heart and it is opened wide to worthy objects for succoring humanity. That is one of Wilmington's finest characteristics and it is an attribute of which the whole community has a right to be proud.

Generous Wilmington citizens have subscribed more than enough money to assure the use at the Bear annex of the James Walker Memorial hospital for the care and treatment of infants and children during the remainder of the summer. The money is in hand to equip the baby hospital and the equipment has been ordered. It is planned to give treatment to all babies five years old and under that may be brought to the hospital. What a godsend such a work will be to hundreds of delicate and ailing little ones who need such attention and nurture as will be given to them free of charge.

This work ought to appeal to all the highest and noblest instincts of our being. It should appeal to our generosity and liberality, for the summer work will be experimental with a view to greater endeavor next year. Contingent upon the experiment's proving a success, a generous citizen has offered to donate $20,000 for the purpose of erecting an exclusive building for the use of the baby hospital.

Others may join in this noble charity to the extent of their ability, and the committee receiving donations will be glad to accept further evidences of the co-operation and assistance of all who want a share in the baby hospital. Operating expenses will have to be met.

It is a strictly humane undertaking and its beneficence will be "without money and without price." Medical attention will be ample and free. The food question will be solved on scientific and hygienic lines, and sanitation and expert nurse service will characterize the efficiency of the institution. An expert head baby nurse will be in charge, and Wilmington ladies will supervise the operations and do the heart work for the tots.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Mr. J. A. Livingstone, a son of Mr. W. W. Livingstone, of St. Pauls, Robeson county, succeeds Mr. H. R. Aiken as city editor of the Wilmington Star. Mr. Aiken having resigned to accept the position of food inspector for New Hanover county. Mr. Livingstone has been a member of the local staff of The Star for the past two years. Robeson county not only has more newspapers than any other county in the State, if we mistake not, but it sends some mighty good newspaper material to other counties. The Star alone has on its force three Robeson county men—Mr. J. E. Thompson, general manager; Mr. J. A. Parham, night editor, and Mr. Livingstone—all good newspaper men. And if it were to come to a pinch The Robesonian could lend The Star some more good newspaper talent that is native to Robeson, but The Robesonian isn't going to do it if it can help itself, because it does not want to give up its bright young men. —Lumberton Robesonian.

The Galveston News wants to know why it is that the ginners of Texas are content to let their gin machinery lie idle for a large part of every year. The News suggests that this is a great waste of capital and ventures the opinion that "in almost every section of the cotton-growing portion of the State there is an abundance of raw material raised much of which goes to waste, that, by adding a small investment to the ginning plant could be converted into the finished article to be used by the people." As a matter of fact, the whole ginning business is still in a very crude state of development. In some parts of South Carolina it has long been customary for ginners to use their engine power during the summer months for sawmill purposes, or to operate a grist mill on certain days in the week. In recent years, in the larger towns gins have most often operated in connection with cotton seed oil mills. It would not be easy in this State for the ginner at the country crossroads to find use for his outfit throughout the year. The chief waste in connection with ginneries, however is that they do but a fraction of the work which should be expected of them, and do that none to efficiently. At present millions of dollars are lost to the South every year because the quality of much of the cotton is injured by the rough handling to which it is subjected in ginning and compressing; whereas with wiser methods the cotton could be compressed at the gins, with much less damage to the fibre, with a much improved packing, with a big saving in transportation charges and with a reduction of the hazards to which it is now subjected through exposure to fire and the weather. This is a reform the full benefits of which would not be secured unless it were put into general practice; but if it ever gathers headway it will sweep the cotton belt—Charleston News and Courier.

The office of commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington has forwarded the Observer a copy of the Washington Star containing the report by Commissioner Cato Sells, of the Indian Bureau, on the industrial inspiration the government is giving the Cherokee Indians in North Carolina. There are 2,000 in the tribe who refused to leave the State when the government deported to others to the old Indian Territory. These "stickers" own in their own rights 63,000 acres of land in Swain county. Commissioner Sells is going to plant apple orchards for those Indians in the encouragement of work, and he will stock their streams with fish by way of affording play of a commercial sort. The Star says Mr. Sells has visited these Indians in recent weeks and has planned the establishment of new industries among them for their own improvement and development. It is said that he is the first Indian commissioner to inspect personally the reservation and to discuss with the Cherokees themselves their problems. Mr. Sells says these Indians are "intelligent and dignified, and eager to carry out the plans for the betterment of the tribe." There are no blankets among them. All speak English, though the Cherokee tongue is in common use. They are Christians and practically all belong to the Baptist church. They have preachers of their own who preach to them in the Indian language. They are peaceable and crime is at a minimum among them. In speaking of their government, Mr. Sells says that when the Cherokees purchased the land in North Carolina back in 1842 the deal was accomplished through W. B. Thomas, who had long been a trader among the Indians in that part of the country. Incorporation under the law of North Carolina followed, and the Indians' property became a communal affair, to be allotted by them to the members of the tribe. A council elected by the Indians themselves is the governing body, and they also choose a tribal chief and assistant chief. The present chief is Saunooke, a full blood Indian about 40 years old, a graduate of Carlisle. While waiting for the apple trees to grow and for the fish to multiply, the Indians are busying themselves with a portable saw mill which Commissioner Sells provided for them, and are building frame houses to take the place of the log cabins they have been content to occupy.—Charlotte Observer.

BETTER TRANSFER SERVICE NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Star:

Owing to the several attractive resorts near Wilmington, I suppose there are as many visitors here, if not more, than go to any other place in the State, especially in the summer. I, therefore, wish to call attention to the way incoming baggage is handled, with the sincere hope that it can be remedied.

When a passenger from an incoming train crosses the bridge at the union station and reaches Front street there are a number of hack drivers, hotel porters and transfer baggage men, calling out the names of the concerns that they are supposed to represent. The passenger has a railroad check for his baggage and wishes it delivered to his address as early as possible. He approaches one of the baggage agents who offers to take his check and asks him and where he wants his baggage to go. No receipt for the check is given and the person who surrenders it has no guarantee that he will ever see his baggage again.

If the arrival is at night, the promise is made that the baggage will be delivered by 8 o'clock the following morning. This was promised me twice but I received my trunk once at 11:30 a. m. and today I got it at 10:30 a. m. and then only by a great deal of trouble in locating the transfer man.

Generally in arriving in any city a passenger on surrendering his check to a transfer agent receives a check in place of his and his trunk is delivered with reasonable promptness. I don't know that it is anybody's business to remedy the matter, but I hope somebody will, and soon. The present mode is far behind the times and a perfect nuisance. TRAVELLER.

NEW CANCER BULLETIN.

State Board of Health Tells People What They Should Know of Cancer.

(State Board of Health.)

Cancer is on the increase. The State Board of Health, realizing the timely importance of checking this increasing disease among our people has just prepared and issued 50,000 copies of a special leaflet on the subject of "Cancer and What You Should Know About It."

Largely because of public ignorance and neglect, cancer now proves fatal in over 90 per cent. of the attacks, whereas 90 per cent. could be cured through early recognition and prompt removal.

Herein lies hope for the control of cancer. It is at this point the people must be informed and made to know the nature and facts concerning the disease. They must know that it is largely preventable.

Cancer is believed to be caused most generally by the constant irritation of some local tissue. It is known to be more prevalent in over-nourished people. It is evident that these predisposing causes can be controlled, therefore it is safe to say that cancer is preventable. By avoiding continued irritation as the pressure of a pipe stem on the tongue or the lips or a corset stay on the breast, and by avoiding over-nutrition, predisposition to cancer can be greatly diminished.

The board issues the pamphlet as a message of hope—to inform the people that if taken in time the majority of the cases of cancer are curable, that in early operation lies the only hope of cure. For this free leaflet on Cancer, write to the State Board of Health, Raleigh.

Another "First" Bloom.

The Star yesterday received another "first cotton bloom" from Mr. S. J. Calhan, who lives near Council's, N. C. It was plucked from a fine field of his cotton and he writes under date of Saturday that he could send more, if necessary. The first received by The Star was through the Bridger Company, of Bladenboro, on Saturday.

CHAUTAUQUA CHORAL CONCERT PROGRAMME

Big Musical Event By Local Talent Wednesday Night

Prominent Feature of Meeting at Wrightsville Beach—Chorus of 40 Voices Under Direction of Mr. Robertson.

The Choral Concert at the Baptist Chautauqua on Wednesday night promises to be one of the finest choral efforts given in this section in some time. The chorus, composed of local singers, under the direction of Mr. William Gemmell Robertson, organist and choirmaster of St. James church, has been working on the music for the past five weeks, and the results of its labors show that the composite effect is one only to be reached by a band of singers who can understand and interpret good choral music. The chorus is sufficiently large, consisting, as it does, of more than 40 voices, to have a chorus of women's voices and also of men's voices, features that will add much to the enjoyment of the programme.

The programme includes two Old English glees, a patriotic anthem, peculiarly appropriate at this time, two favorite waltzes arranged for women's voices, and several modern short choral works. Mrs. Thomas M. Green, soprano, and Mr. Charles Dushan, tenor, will sing solos, making another added feature of interest.

Beginning at 8:30 instead of 8 o'clock as announced on the Chautauqua programme, the following numbers will be sung:

"Hail, Smiling Morn" (Spofforth), mixed chorus.

"God of Our Fathers" (Rossini), soprano solo, Mrs. W. G. Robertson, with chorus accompaniment.

"Estudiantina" (Lacombe), women's voices.

"Carissima" (Penn), Mrs. Thomas M. Green.

"Where the Bee Sucks" (Arne), mixed chorus.

"Winter Song" (Bullard), men's voices.

Bridal chorus, "Rose Maiden" (Cowen), mixed chous.

"Hungarian Love Song" (Roeckel), Mr. Charles Dushan.

"Blue Danube Waltz" (Strauss), women's voices.

"With Sheathed Swords," Naaman, (Costa), mixed chorus, solo by Mr. John F. Harris, Jr.

The following are the singers participating:

Altos—Mesdames Edwards, Fenley, Muse, Taylor; Misses Bowen, Crumb.

Tenors—Messrs. Dosher, Dushan, Fenley, Gaddis, Hardison, Lomas, Pratt, Schulken, Southerland, Williford.

Basses—Messrs. Christie, Fenley, Harrell, Harris, Haskett, Jones, McCall, Muse, O'Keef, Thompson, Tremaine.

Mrs. H. E. O'Keef, accompanist.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE NATIONAL RIFLE MATCH.

Atlantic Coast Line Issues Attractive Circular on Event.

The National Rifle Matches are to be held at State Camp, Fla., on the banks of the St. Johns river, about 12 miles south of Jacksonville, beginning October 6th, and ending October 22d, and are attracting nation-wide interest among military and civil marksmen of every degree, for in addition to the competition between military companies, the matches will be opened not only to teams from all universities, colleges and schools of the country, but arrangements have been made to permit target practice on this range by individuals or any other contestants, whether they are in the matches or not. This privilege applies not only when the contests are going on, but before and after the contests. A sufficient number of men will be furnished to work the targets, etc., and the practice will be free to all, instead of a fee being charged as heretofore.

These matches were last held in 1913 at Camp Perry, Ohio, when there were approximately 5,000 people in attendance, and it is expected that the number of participants and visitors will be greatly increased this year, as Congress has made a special appropriation of $50,000 to cover the cost of transporting the militia, and the railroads have announced special reduced individual and party fares for the occasion, something which has never been done before, and both of which are open to the public.

The Atlantic Coast Line has issued an illustrated and descriptive circular showing the individual and party fares to State Camp and side-trip fares from Jacksonville to the principal points in the State. In addition to giving the detailed information regarding the Rifle Matches, there are half tone cuts showing the rifle ranges, regimental camps and camp kitchens, and a number of other subjects of interest to all the contestanst, and the back of the circular contains a comprehensive map of Florida, which also shows the exact location of State Camp. In addition to this, the Florida Rifle Association has in course of preparation an official programme which will give in detail the schedules, rules and conditions of the National matches, and also of all the other associations which will participate. Copies of these circulars may be obtained from the Florida State Rifle Association, P. O. drawer 227, St. Augustine, Fla.

Past Chancellor Galloway.

The current number of the Carolina Pythian prints an excellent half-tone likeness of Dr. W. C. Galloway, of this city, with following title line: "Dr. W. C. Galloway, past chancellor of Jefferson, No. 61, one of the best known Pythians, of Wilmington. The genial doctor measures to advantage with the youngest in the order in love for Pythianism, enthusiasm, and willingness to take part in all progressive steps. We know that Brother Galloway feels young—he says he is young—and he can prove it by the editor because they were boys together in the recent past."

Married in California.

Friends in Wilmington will be interested in learning of the announcement of the marriage of Mr. Lee Mattingly, brother of Mr. Clarence Mattingly, formerly of this city, to Miss Flora Abigail Whitehead, which took place on June 5th, at Sunnyvale, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Mattingly will reside in Berkeley, Cal.

WILL BE WELL REPRESENTED

Large Delegation From North Carolina to Attend National Anti-Saloon Convention.

Rev. R. L. Davis, superintendent of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League, writes that the indications are for a very large attendance from North Carolina at the National Anti-Saloon Convention to be held in Atlantic City the week of July 5.

Churches and other organizations throughout the State are electing delegates and providing for them to attend. A telegram from the Chamber of Commerce, at Gastonia, says they will send two delegates and one of them, Mr. S. J. Durham, will be on the programme to tell the story of Gaston from 50 government stills 30 years ago to 50 cotton mills, no stills and all shipments of liquor barred now. Mr. Davis writes that the following have notified him that they will attend the national convention:

W. B. Cooper, State senator, Wilmington; W. T. Shaw, manufacturer, Weldon; Mrs. J. R. Barkley, Raleigh; Miss Allie G. Horne, Monroe; Rev. W. L. Hutchins, Winston-Salem; Mrs. O. C. Godfrey, President W. C. T. U., Spencer; Rev. J. Frank Armstrong, Asheville; Prof. F. S. Blair, peace secretary, Guilford college; Rev. R. G. Weatherspby, (col.) Greensboro; Rev. J. H. Worley, Pine Level; Mrs. R. L. Davis, W. C. T. U., Raleigh; Rev. H. H. Jordan writes the churches of Gastonia will be represented.

The round trip ticket from Greensboro is $21.25 and from Raleigh, $21.35. From other points over the State a like reduction. The North Carolina delegation will get together at Washington, D. C., and go from there over the Pennsylvania, leaving there Monday, July 5, 4 p. m. and reaching Atlantic City 8:39 p. m. Superintendent Davis will have badges sufficient to tag all "Tarheels" who will advertise the best State in the Union, "where prohibition and all other good things thrive."

North Carolina headquarters have been secured at Hotel Monticello, named after the Virginia home of the great Southern leader, Jefferson Davis.

At the close of the convention on Saturday, July 10, it is planned to have special trains chartered for the purpose of conveying to Washington, D. C., a committee of 5,000 to call at the White House for the purpose of presenting to the President of the United States an appeal as embodied in the action to be taken by the convention.

This committee will march down Pennsylvania avenue to give emphasis to the mighty prohibition crusade.

All tickets from the West and South can be purchased for Atlantic City by way of Washington, with stop-over privileges without added cost.

MOUNTAIN VACATION CAMP FOR YOUNG WOMEN.

Delightful Summer Home Near Asheville Under Auspices of Y. W. C. A.

Several years ago by the generosity of Miss Frances M. Wright, of Asheville, her delightful country place near Tryon, was thrown open to be used as a summer camp under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Associations of the South.

"Sunny Slope" Camp occupies about 30 acres, with a country home containing living room, dining room, kitchen, library and sleeping apartments, as well as a number of tents for those wishing outdoor sleeping quarters.

The use of the camp is a Y. W. C. A. membership privilege, and has furnished rest and recreation of the best kind for numbers of girls each summer since it has been open. Co-operative housekeeping is done in order to bring the rates within reach of all girls. In the past the waiting list has been so great that guests could be allowed to remain only two weeks, and it may be necessary to apply this time limit again this year.

The camp will be open during the months of July and August, and will be under the direct charge of Miss Amy Smith, the executive secretary, and Miss Ada Starkweather, the city secretary, of the South Atlantic Field Committee, Charlotte, who will be hostesses this summer to the girls in camp.

Among the many recreative attractions the camp offers are swimming, tennis, camp fires, mountain climbing, picnics, hay rides, baseball, tramps and quiet rest in the home and library. It is an ideal place to go for vacation and inspiration, as there is an abundance of fun, rest and many new and lasting friendships formed which insure happy memories throughout the year to come.

Any girls who are interested can get full information by inquiring of the general secretary of the local Young Women's Christian Association.

WILL BEGIN WORK SOON.

Clark-Lynch Lumber Company Have Contract for Clearing Site.

The Clark-Lynch Lumber Company and Mr. Sol. Sternberger, of this city, who have been awarded the contract by the Treasury Department for clearing the site for the Wilmington custom house and appraisers' stores, preparatory to the erection of the new $600,000 structure, will begin work in tearing down the old buildings in a few days. The contract from the government was received Saturday. Just as soon as the bond has been arranged a large force of hands will be put to work. The bid of this concern was $4,900.

Advices from Washington several days ago stated that this concern had been awarded the contract, but no official notice was received until Saturday.

FIRST BIG EXCURSION.

Will Arrive From Mountain Country Next Tuesday Afternoon Week.

The first of the big excursions from the mountains to the seashore is advertised by the Seaboard Air Line to reach Wilmington tomorrow week at 5 p. m., from Rutherfordton, Shelby, Lincolnton, Charlotte, Monroe, Hamlet, Lumberton and intermediate stations, the very low rate of $4.00 for the round-trip being offered with correspondingly lower rates from points this side of Rutherfordton.

The train will be operated on a fast schedule and will make no stops for passengers this side of Lumberton. Side trips to Wrightsville, Southport, Fort Caswell, Carolina Beach and a trip to sea are advertised in connection with the three-day outing. The train will leave Wilmington for the return on Thursday morning, July 1st, at 8 a. m.

Lumian Pictures Tonight.

"The Leopard's Lair," a story of the African jungles in which over 300 wild animals are shown; "The Smoking Out of Bella Butta," featuring Flora Finch and Hughie Mack; and "Mr. Pepperie Temper," a Kalem comedy.

CRIMINAL TERM OF COURT

Judge George Rountree Will Preside—Few Cases on Docket—Civil Case to be Taken Up.

Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases will be convened this morning at 9:30 o'clock with Judge George Rountree, of Wilmington, presiding. Solicitor Homer L. Lyon, of Whiteville, will represent the State in the prosecution of the cases on the calendar. The criminal side of the docket will be completed within two or three days.

Following the trial of the criminal cases, the case of J. G. Wright & Son against the Kidder Lumber Company will be taken up. This is a civil action in which the plaintiff seeks to recover commissions on property valued at $10,000, on the ground that the firm was instrumental in selling the property. At the last term of court a verdict was returned in favor of the defendant but it was set aside by Judge Rountree and a new trial was ordered. The defendant's contention is that the property was sold in connection with another tract several days after the agreement with the real estate firm had expired.

CHAUTAUQUA OPENS TONIGHT

Opening of What is Expected to Be Permanent Annual Attraction at Wrightsville Beach.

Rev. John E. White, one of the leading ministers of his denomination in the South and a native of this State, will deliver the opening address to the Baptist Seaside Chautauqua which begins tonight at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Oceanic Hotel at Wrightsville Beach. It is expected that there will be several hundred visitors from all sections of the State to arrive today for the Chautauqua which will continue through the week, closing next Sunday. It is hoped to make this a permanent annual attraction for Wrightsville Beach.

The Seaside Chautauqua is a new thing for Wrightsville Beach, and the people of Wilmington have realized what it means to them to have this large, well-to-do body of Christian workers in their midst. They have seen the value of the situation and are making good their opportunity to cordial in welcoming this attraction to the city. It is the intention of the promoters of the Chautauqua and the Baptist State Convention, under whose auspices it is being launched, to make this a permanent organization to be held every summer somewhere along the beach.

Wrightsville Beach has become one of the greatest summer resorts in the South and Wilmington has long been known as the city of hospitality. It was easily the choice of the promoters to try out this place first, but if they should feel that their reception is not warm enough, Morehead City or Virginia Beach might have an opportunity to entertain the large number of visitors every summer. However, with Wilmingtons' natural tendency toward being thorough in whatever she does it is believed that she will use her opportunities this week in such a way that Wrightsville Beach will be irresistible and the Baptsts will not have to hunt any other location, even as an experiment.

The organization that meets at the beach this week is backed by a body of men a quarter million strong and if they think Wilmington a suitable place for them to pitch their tent for the Seaside Chautauqua, a commodious building will likely be built here.

The Chautauqua was started several years ago at Chautauqua, New York and has grown steadily into public favor. The main reason why Chautauqua have struck a popular chord in almost every town in which they have been held, is that only the highest and most uplifting attractions are produced on the Chautauqua stage. The Chautauqua that begins tonight, will bring to Wilmington and to Wrightsville Beach, some of the most intellectual, some of the most cultured and most distinguished men of the entire Southland. It will be well worth while to attend the lectures from both the standpoint of entertainment and of uplift.

The programmes that are already out all over the city, show a long list of distinguished men who will lecture, and a collection of elaborate entertainments, beside the fact that it is under the auspices of the Baptist State Convention.

TO SPEAK IN WILMINGTON.

Dr. C. G. Hounshell Will Deliver Three Addresses Next Sunday.

Dr. C. G. Hounshell, secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement, will visit Wilmington next Sunday and will speak at Fifth Street Methodist church in the morning at 11 o'clock, at the Y. M. C. A., at 4:45 p. m. and at a young people's rally in the First Presbyterian church at 8 p. m. He comes to Wilmington under the auspices of the City Sunday School Association and his addresses will be of particular interest to young people.

Dr. Hounshell is now touring the South and has delivered addresses in many of the leading cities in the last several months. He is said to be an earnest and inspiring speaker.

Negro Steals Grip.

Martin Diaz, a cigarmaker of Tampa, Fla., who came to Wilmington Saturday on board the Clyde Line steamer Comanche, had one of his grips stolen from him by a negro, who was helping him arry his belongings to the Seaman's Home. Diaz met the negro at the terminal and gave him one of the grips while he carried the other. The negro gave him the dodge and escaped. It contained two suits of clothes, several shirts and a handsome gold watch. Diaz was without funds and through the assistance of the police secured employment. An effort is being made to locate the negro.

MUST HAVE HIGHER FEAR

Not the Preservation of Body But of the Soul Essential Thing, Declares Dr. Milton.

Not peace at any price but adherence to righteousness at any cost should be the guiding principle in the conduct of men and nations, declared Rev. Dr. William H. Milton in his morning sermon at St. James' Episcopal church yesterday. He showed that until we are able to accept this principle we shall never be able to reconcile the tragedies of life with God's love for man.

The sermon was one of great depth of thought and strong insight into the ruling motives of men. He took as text the ninth, tenth, 14th and 15th verses of the Second chapter of Hebrews.

Dr. Milton said that several weeks ago a member of his congregation had asked him how in view of the present horrible European war the thoughtful church members could preserve their faith in the Fatherhood of God. This man had pointed out that they might continue to recognize the sovereignty of God but he thought it would be hard for them to continue to recognize Him as a God of love. Dr. Milton said he replied that such would not be the case with the thoughtful members of the church but with the unthinking members. However, he had been so impressed with the conversation that for the last several Sundays his sermons had been based upon the ideas suggested by the inquiry.

In connection with the present war the thing that impresses us most, he explained, are the physical horrors and the fear that our own country may be led into similar sufferings. This has so far overshadowed everything else that we have forgotten all other horrors. It is natural we should have such a fear. Emotional fear is one of the primal instincts of men. It is at the basis even of a mother's love which first of all seeks to care for the safety of the child. Next to hunger this fear of bodily harm is the most dominant in the life of men.

But the time must come in every life when this fear must give way to a higher fear—the fear of wrong doing and the fear of evil. The courage that risks anything for the safety of the body must give way to the courage that is ready to die for the right, if necessary.

Dr. Milton declared that Christ did not be-little natural fear but His desire was to exalt the soul above the body. Of what value is the body, the speaker asked, when the supreme values of life are at stake? Everyone must assent to this verdict. He ventured the assertion that whenever the issue is clear cut no person with any standard of living would fail to die for the right. History is full of interesting phenomena where men and women have been willing and glad to die for their religion.

But the trouble with most of us is that the issues are not clear cut. Indeed they do not seem to be drawn at all. It seems to be possible to preserve both body and soul, to serve God and mammon. Bodily fear, however, is always the first to exert itself. In modern times it shows itself in the fear of pain, fear of suffering, fear of poverty, fear of adversity or fear of death.

Judged by our fears he inquired what manner of men are we? Certainly all should be praying for peace but what kind of peace is it that we pray for? Is it peace that will preserve our prosperity or the peace in which the fundamental principles of righteousness are preserved? We should count our bodies but a small price to pay in order to preserve these principles for which Christ died an ignominous death on the Cross. The highest values are bought not with the preservation of our bodies but by preserving our souls.

The speaker told the story of Christ's suffering and of his death and declared that this was the way through which the Fatherhood of God and redemption found itself. If we can look through to Calvary we shall find that at the heart of God the actuating force is love.

REV. H. C. BOWEN PASSES AFTER LONG ILLNESS.

Beloved Minister of Christian Church Dies at Home of Son in Ohio.

Rev. H. C. Bowen, formerly pastor of Dock Street Christian church, of this city, passed away Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of his son, Mr. Bernard C. Bowen, in Norwood, Ohio. This announcement will be learned with profound sorrow by hundreds of friends not only in Wilmington but throughout the State. He had been in failing health for some time and early last week suffered a stroke of paralysis and never regained consciousness.

With him when the end came, besides his son, were Mrs. Bowen and two daughters, Mrs. Frank Bedford and Miss Grace Bowen. He had not been strong for several months and had been visiting at the home of his son. He was 57 years old and a native of Onslow county. He was for many years a well known and beloved minister of the Christian church. He served several churches but was not actively engaged in pastoral work after resigning from the pastorate of Dock Street church a little more than two years ago to engage in work as financial agent for the Children's Home Society, of Durham.

He was a man of strict devotion to his calling and was always conscientious in rendering faithful service not only as a minister but also as a man. He numbered his friends by the scope of his acquaintance. He had traveled extensively and was widely known throughout this and other States. He was greatly beloved by all who knew him.

Accompanied by members of the family, the remains are expected to arrive in Wilmington this evening and will be taken to Catherine Lake, in Onslow county, for interment in the family burying ground. The funeral will be conducted tomorrow by Rev. Dr. J. C. Caldwell, president of Atlantic Christian College.

He is survived by his wife and the following children: Bernard C. Bowen, Esq., of Norwood, Ohio; Mrs. Frank Bedford, of Lexington, Ky.; Misses Carrie, Ruth and Grace Bowen and Mr. Hugh Bowen, of Wilmington. Surviving also are one brother and two sisters, these being Mr. W. D. Bowen, of Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Cornelius Latham and Mrs. John Windley, of Pinetown, N. C. The members of the grief-stricken family will have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

—Mr. L. L. Shepard left yesterday afternoon for Jacksonville, N. C., to join Mrs. Shepard, who has been spending some time with relatives. They will return to Wilmington the latter part of this week

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. — "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fleming, of Raleigh, are guests at the Hanover Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Averitte, of Fayetteville, were among the week-end guests at the Seashore Hotel.

The following were registered at the Hanover Inn yesterday: Messrs. C. H. Hutchings and W. H. Eritz, of Mt. Olive, and D. A. Taylor, of Stoneville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Whitten, of Atlanta, will spend the greater part of the summer at the beach and will be guests at the Oceanic hotel.

After having been thoroughly renovated and remodeled throughout, the bath houses at the Oceanic are now open and are enjoying a fine patronage.

Recent arrivals at the Oceanic include: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brockenton and Mrs. F. Montgomery, Kingstree, S. C.; W. C. Addison, Raleigh; F. L. Smith, Stone Mountain; Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Farrington, Charlotte.

Yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer: "Miss Mary Hoke, in company with the Misses Baker, left yesterday for Wrightsville Beach, where they will be guests of Miss Lillia Shipp. Miss Harriette Barker leaves today for Miss Shipp's cottage also."

The following were among the arrivals at the Oceanic Hotel: Charles A. Winters, Chicago; H. W. Watson, Jackson, Miss.; George R. McGee, C. Daly, J. M. Kanch and W. H. Sutton, New York City; A. T. Larabee, Baltimore; R. T. Williams, Greensboro; Solicitor H. L. Lyon, of Whiteville.

The Sunday excursions on the Atlantic Coast Line brought about 400 people yesterday. They spent the day at the beach, returning yesterday evening on the regular scheduled hours. This travel was much larger than last Sunday and is expected to increase from week to week as the season advances.

Surf bathing was a most popular and refreshing diversion for the throngs who lined the beach yesterday and fully 1,000 people enjoyed a dip during the bathing hours along the ocean front. Between 400 and 500 went in the surf from Lumina alone during the day.

The heaviest travel of the season was experienced yesterday on the suburban line, 2,700 people all told having been handled to the beach during the day. Cars were run in trains of three all afternoon and during the evening and for the most part they were crowded by those who would escape the heat of the city.

The temperature was pleasant and cool at the beach in great contradistinction to the weather in the city yesterday and hundreds of townsfolk spent the day at Wrightsville. The attendance for both concerts at Lumina was quite large and the programmes both afternoon and evening were enjoyed.

Fair and continued warm today and tomorrow for North Carolina was the Washington forecast of the Weather Bureau last night and these conditions are expected to send hundreds to the beach from all over the State. The season, by the end of the present week, will have well nigh reached its height.

Following is a list of Sunday arrivals at the Seashore Hotel: Messrs. F. L. Hunt and Frank B. Netherland, of Asheville; C. B. Summers, Spartanburg, S. C.; J. M. Johnson, Goldsboro; H. C. Carr, Wallace; J. F. Williams, Clinton; T. C. Davis, Tupelo, Miss.; J. W. Tabb, Richmond, Va.; H. S. Ralph, Edenton; J. H. Hutchings, Marshall; J. H. Carrington, Philadelphia; R. A. Forrester, Atlanta, Ga.; D. O. McCarthy, Atlanta, Ga.; R. C. Haynes, Cliffside; R. C. Weaver, Asheville; B. Beaman, Baltimore; H. M. McLean, Lumberton; F. M. Tarply, Spartanburg, S. C.; W. H. Liner, Waynesville; C. H. Williams, Atlanta; Charles M. Rigan, Laurinburg; Odom Alexander, Charlotte; E. A. McMillan, Fayetteville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Boykin, Hamlet.

The moving pictures at Lumina are a never-failing source of entertainment for the patrons of the popular pavilion. The pictures always attract large audiences, which seem to get much enjoyment from these open air exhibitions. An exceptionally fine programme is promised by the management for this week, the list including a number of very high grade films. Tonight's programme is an especially attractive one. Heading the list for tonight is an African jungle story called "The Leopard's Lair." Three hundred wild animals are shown in this picture.

THEATRICAL

Six mammoth reels of pictures will be shown at the home of "The Incomparable Movies' 'today—and of course they're all new, original and never shown in this locality before.

The bill is headed by that great two reel Universal dramatic feature, "The Pursuit Eternal," featuring that strong dramatic pair, Hobert Henley and Francis M. Nelson in the leading roles. It's a drama full of tense and exciting situations, unrivalled action and a strong heart-appeal that will touch everyone who sees it.

The Universal—Originators of all new movie ideas, introduce today a new stunt—"Photo-Vaudeville." The first production is entitled "Should We Eat Pie" and features "Alexander the Great," the world's most famous monkey comedian, in the leading role. It's something new, original and entirely novel, that should be seen by everyone.

"The Man and the Law"—a big title and a big drama, a United production in two reels, featuring Nobert Myles and Edna Payne, both of whom were formerly with Universal, and are strong Bijou favorites.

Then there's a great Nestor scream, "Too Many Crooks" featuring that great pair of fun-makers, Billie Rhodes and Lee Moran.

Grand Theatre Today.

Charlie Chaplin, in a great, big, rollicking Essanay comedy, "By the Sea," will be the stellar attraction at the Grand today and those who miss the laughs in this big fun offering will have nobody to blame but themselves after this due notice. But that is not all in the comedy line for clever Billie Reeves will be seen in a great Lubin comedy, "The Substitute." Reeves is one of the highest priced stars ever engaged for the screen and is well remembered as the original comedian in the big musical production, "A Night in an English Music Hall." A big burlesque fistic encounter is one of the scenes in this big film offering and Reaves covers himself with all the glory in one round after another of clean wholesome fun. Charlite Chaplin's number for this occasion is especially apropos, as the scenes are laid at the seashore and what he does is a caution.

Anita Stewart and Earl Williams are well cast in the two-reel Vitagraph "The Awakening," which is a wonderfully appealing picture perfectly interpreted under the direction of that master producer, Ralph Ince.

Victoria Theatre.

Commencing tonight the Demorest Stock Company will open a week's engagement at the Victoria theatre, presenting a pretty rural drama in four acts, "Just Plain Folks," the story of which is intensely interesting from start to finish and possesses a good moral. Miss Ona Demorest, who plays the leading role, is at her best as Rose Hunter, an ignorant country girl, and is supported by an exceptional good company.

As a special feature in order to keep the audience entertained between the acts, high class vaudeville will be introduced by a clever lot of vaudeville entertainers, who are second to none. Good singing and dancing, funny stories and everything that spells a great entertainment is promised. But this is not all by any means. As a curtain raiser Mr. Joseph Jefferson, who needs no introduction to the movie fans, will be seen in a two-reel Majestic masterpiece, "The Fencing Master." It's a thriller from beginning to end and starts the evening's entertainment with a great boom.

The doors open at 7:30. Picture at 7:45; "Just Plain Folks," 8:15; Wednesday and Thursday, Lena Rivers. Matinee: Children 5c, adults 10c. Nights, 10 and 20c.

A Vitagraph comedy picture with Flora Finch and Hughie Mack is another of the attractions for tonight. The name of this comedy is "The Smoking Out of Bella Butts." "Mr. Pepperle Temper," a Kalem comedy completes the programme.

CANNING DEMONSTRATION

Miss Margaret Scott Will Spend Two Days in New Hanover County.

Miss Margaret Scott, of Raleigh, will give a canning demonstration at the Winter Park school house this afternoon at 3 o'clock and tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Wrightsboro school house. All ladies interested in canning are invited to attend. Miss Scott is an expert in this line of work and is spending some time in the Eastern part of the State.

Mrs. J. P. Herring has taken much interest in canning work in the county and will attend the meetings. She has given many demonstrations in canning and has has been instrumental in arousing much interest in the work.

AT IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. J. S. Crowley Reads and Explains Paul's Preaching—Communion Service Held.

Rev. J. S. Crowley, pastor of Immanuel Presbyterian church, held his audience to close attention yesterday while he explained what he understood with a clear religious vision to be the meaning of Paul's message in his sermon to the Ephesians. Mr. Crowley read the whole of the fourth chapter of Ephesians, stopping to elaborate and make more clear some of the gems of thought expressed therein.

Strong emphasis was made to Paul's expression, "One Lord, one faith, one baptism." While it is far less noticeable now than in former years, there is still a tendency in church members to be partisan in their views concerning religion. Mr. Crowley, however, takes a broader view than that. He believes it right for every man to have views of his own, but not right for that man to have no consideration for other views than the one he holds. Paul was too broad for partisanism in the church, he said. There was but the one Christ and Paul says all who believe on him and trust in him shall be saved. There was no special booth made for Presbyterians, nor any special hard requirements made for Methodists, Baptists, or any other church, that was not incorporated in the one law of redemption. Belief in Christ is the criterion and our special beliefs are only the outgrowth of our temperaments and methods of thinking.

Mr. Crowley explained that the purpose of the ministry is to edify. Work is the end of life and faith is the main thing in keeping us close to God. In conclusion, the pastor followed Paul in his opinion of how we can glorify the Lord, and how we can prevent grieving him. A Christian may not see the Creator of Heaven every day, but he does see the little ones here in the world and these little ones are dear to the Lord. If a man is kind to the needy, he is glorifying his Creator. A good neighbor is a high honor in this life and to be one is one of the greatest accomplishments of life.

When he had finished his sermon, the pastor closed his Bible and turned to his audience and remarked that Paul had preached to them through him. He expressed no new thought of his own, he merely re-clothed Paul's language into a more understandable form, he declared.

Announcements were made of a meeting of the Brotherhood tomorrow night and a meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society Thursday.

Communion services were held following the sermon at which a large number partook.

CAPT. HOLTTUM AT BALTIMORE.

Former British Steamer Master Relates Interesting War Experience.

Many Wilmington people will remember with pleasure Capt. Chas. H. Holttum, who used to trade regularly here on the English tramp steamers engaged in the cotton traffic for Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son. The following, therefore, from a recent issue of the Baltimore Sun will be read with interest:

"An absence of 10 years from Baltimore has made changes in my itinerary about the globe which in these utilitarian days has shrunk since the days of my apprenticeship on the windjammers," said Capt. Charles Herbert Holttum, of the British steamer Mersario, in port from Naples. He might have added since his last visit 10 years ago as master of the Tolosa that his raven locks have silvered.

"Coming to Baltimore 30 years ago as a junior officer in the Pinkney Line to Rotterdam, Captain Holttum became master first on the Lero and then bringing out the first Ohio.

"As master of the Benbrook, Captain Holttum experienced the excitement of his life. Sent out from England with coal for Admiral Craddock's fleet in the Pacific, he was nearing the fleet when the admiral and several of his cruisers were wiped from the seas by the German fleet.

"It was during the action that the Benbrook received a wireless to proceed to Port Stanley, Falkland Islands, and await orders. There a memorable event was recorded in the private logbook of Captain Holttum. He was there when the attack was made by the German fleet and later its annihilation by Admiral Sturdee. The first gun fired was heard from the Benbrook and the battle was partly seen.

"From Port Stanley the Benbrook was ordered to Montevideo and the captain was present at the reception given Admiral Sturdee. Returning home, Captain Holttum was placed in the Mersario and came to Baltimore to load coal for Montevideo. While in port he is the guest of Doctor and Mrs. Herman J. Giering, 1900 Eastern avenue."

get the correct bearing and learn the true course when the change in the cabinet came about. Bryan has no "Peace Platform" but merely wishes the people of the United States to restrain themselves and show a spirit of peacefulness. Bryan is not antagonistic to Wilson in the course he is following in his policy toward foreign nations. Bryan is no more desirous of bringing about peace than is President Wilson. Both men are peace loving and liberty loving but they differ on the method to be followed to bring about the desired end. The difference has nothing whatever to do with the political situation in the United States and the Democratic party if it is wise will continue to accord these two men the same combined support that has been given them since the Wilson administration went into office.

Bryans' attack on Roosevelt and Taft at New York Saturday night was as much to nip in the bud the sentiment that he is about to start himself a little party all his own as to show up the policy and aims of the Progressive and Republican parties. He is not desirous of a split in the Democratic ranks and if he thought a break would place him in the Presidential chair he would refrain from pulling out. Roosevelt, whom he attacks, has thoroughly demonstrated the utter absurdity of such a move to gain popular favor.

The rank and file of the party in power at Washington are thinking men, competent of reaching conclusions for themselves, and while regretting that Bryan made the mistake of resigning at the time he did still are not forgetful of his greatness nor of his loyalty to the party which he has helped to put in power at Washington. Remembering these things Democrats are more likely to forget the mistake made rather than the good accomplished by this distinguished American.

All idea of any political difference existing between President Woodrow Wilson and William Jennings Bryan must be eliminated from the minds of those who swear allegience to the party of which these men are members. The rank and file of the party, the great mass of men who vote the Democratic ticket must not make the mistake of thinking that in being true Democrats they must follow one or the other of these men, because both of them are Democrats, one no greater a Democrat than the other, neither a greater Democrat than the humblest member of the party but both Democrats in the true sense of the word and advocating Democratic supremacy in American politics. Both men are fighting for the same things and in the same way politically with absolutely no differences between them upon any subject that relates to the welfare of the Democratic party. The mistake committed by Bryan is past and the criticism that was made has lost its sting, those who at first believed Bryan's action would result in serious complications for the Union now realize since reading the text of the note to Germany, which was the direct cause of his resignation, that his was an honest mistake and are forgetting that it was made.

Wilson and Bryan are the Democratic leaders of today. They are not pulling against each other and thus making the load heavier upon both of them but are shoulder to shoulder and pulling straight forward and together that they may carry the Democratic party to victory at the polls in 1916 and ever after. Bryan's work is cut out for him. He is a great orator, a great editor, a great man, with a great following, he has it in his power to greatly increase his following and in increasing his following he is increasing the ranks of the Democratic party. To speak in office terms Bryan is the "outside man" and his work is to round up the business, the voters, in support of the "office man" Wilson, who is our Executive Storekeeper at Washington. Each man has his work to do that the great corporation of the people may prosper. The "outside man" is essential to the welfare of the corporation. Without him the corporation would become bankrupt. The "office man" is as necessary to the corporation as in the man on the outside. Without him the firm would go to rack and ruin. Truly, there is no break in the ranks of the Democratic party, no differences between its solicitor and its storekeeper, no break between its two most necessary men. Wilson and Bryan deserve the support of every stockholder in the corporation. They have, are now, and will continue to exercise their authority and their leadership judiciously and will be given the hearty co-operation and support of their party members.

THE STATE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

Review of Work Accomplished at Recent Meeting in Wilmington.

The following review of the work done at the recent Christian Endeavor Convention which was held in the First Presbyterian church, in Wilmington, prepared by the State press secretary of the organization, will be of interest:

"The Christian Endeavor Convention held in Wilmington June 4-6, was the largest in years, there being 150 delegates present from all over the State. The convention city was rather difficult of access to those living in the western and Piedmont sections of North Carolina, but this drawback was counterbalanced by its widespread reputation for hospitality and by the efforts of Wilmington Endeavorers, who had visited the various Christian Endeavor centers for the purpose of drumming up delegations.

"It was perhaps the warm cordiality and lavish hospitality of the host society and the citizenship of Wilmington, which, more than any other feature, made the 1915 convention the most delightful ever held in the State. Wilmington is interesting because of its location, its important rank as a seaport, and its beauty, for it is in truth a City Beautiful as the Endeavorers discovered while on the auto ride given in their honor. But its chief charm, and the thing which produced the most lasting impression upon the guests of this ocasion, is its warm-hearted Southern people.

"A distinctive feature of the convention was the very apparent interest in social service. There was an address on "The Christian Endeavor's Social Duty," and a conference on social service, led by a worker of large experience in the Social Welfare League of Greensboro. In this connection, it was received by the committee on resolutions, that Endeavorers should band themselves together and exert all the influence possible with moving picture producers in favor of clean films.

"It was voted to give $300 to the work of the All-South Union, which consists of all the Endeavorers of the Southern States, and it was announced that Mr. Karl Lehmann, national C. E. field secretary, would come South in September to devote several months to C. E. work, being due in North Carolina about October, 1915.

"The reports of the State president, Mr. George L. Mitchell, and the secretary, Miss Isabel McDougall, both of Wilmington, showed the greatest growth of the work in years, there having been a gain of about 50 per cent in number of soieties. The State banner was awarded this year, as for five years past, to a Wilmington society, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, while the junior banner went to the juniors of the same church.

"The convention took a decided stand on the question of peace, hundreds signing cards pledging them to do everything possible to promote international fellowship and good will.

"A new department of work was instituted, the same to be known as the Quiet Hour and Tenth Legion Department. Capt. J. P. Russell, of Lumberton, being elected superintendent.

"The services conducted on the revenue cutter 'Seminole' and a Norwegian 'tramp' steamer were interesting to the Endeavorers from inland, as showing the importance of the work being done by Christian Endeavor for the sailors on the high seas."

AD OPPRESSIVE DAY.

Thermometer in Wilmington Takes Upward Trend—Breeze Was Lacking.

Although the thermometer was not in two degrees of the highest of the season, recording yesterday only a maximum of 92 degrees, many people declared it the most oppressive day of the year. The previous record for the season was 94 degrees. But the absence of a breeze for a greater portion of the day and a blazing sun, made life anywhere except at the beach most disagreeable.

Further south the weather was still more oppressive, according to the weather map issued yesterday evening by the Weather Bureau, Augusta having recorded 96 degrees, Atlanta and Birmingham 94, Charleston 94, Charlotte 92, Jacksonville and Memphis 94; Savannah and Shreveport 96. Raleigh had clear weather and a maximum exactly the same as Wilmington.

Safety+Quickness
"Safety First" must ever be the watchword in firearms. But safety must not be secured at the expense of quick action. The Colt Automatic Pistol combines the most dependable kind of safety—automatic safety—with instant firing.
The Colt can't be discharged accidentally, because the trigger must be pulled and the safety in the grip must be pressed in at the same instant and this can't be done except it is done purposely. So much for safety.
As for quickness, the Colt always gets there first, for in an emergency you don't have to bother with or think about the grip safety—it takes care of itself and you.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

EXCHANGE IS MARKET FEATURE

Financial Circles of New York Deeply Interested in Changes and Watch New Developments.

(Special to The Star.)

New York, June 19.—Sterling exchange was once more the feature in financial affairs. The pound sterling sold this week at 4.76 1-4, the lowest quotation in over a century. This is a discount of about 2 1-4 per cent, and compares with a discount of about 4 per cent on French exchange, 15 on Italian, 16 on German and 24 on Russian. This demoralization of exchange as every one knows, is due to the war and the consequent impairment of national credit. The decline has been complicated by the violent dislocation of our foreign trade with the ebiligerents.

While our imports have declined materially, our exports have increased enormously, creating a fabulous excess in the latter of about one billion dollars during the closing fiscal year. These comparisons show that thus far Great Britain has stood the strain far better than any other nation, and while it is possible that sterling may sell at still lower figures, there are as yet no signs of weakness in Britain's ability to finance both herself and her Allies until the end of the war. The exhibition of strength and skill which British finance is making is remarkable, and far exceeds all expectations; nothing like it having ever been witnessed in history. Thus far the national debt of Great Britain has increased about $4,000,000,000, and has more than doubled in amount since the war began. Mr. Asquith notified his fellow countrymen the other day that the war, which has been costing about $13,000,000 a day, including about $1,000,000,000 advanced to her Allies, will soon cost over $15000,000, or at the rate of nearly $5,500,000,000 annually. Such waste is staggering.

When it is remembered that the war is costing other nations proportionately as much as Great Britain, and more where cities and districts are wiped out, this devastation seems utterly beyond human comprehension. It would seem as if exhaustion alone must quickly end such a terrific cataclysm. Yet, it would be premature to calculate upon any such result as an early date; for the struggle may last another year unless a military miracle of some sort hastens the end. It must be borne in mind that the resources and population and wealth of the principal belligerents have been enormously augmented since the last great war, and it is doubtful if the per capita cost of this war to the taxpayer is any greater than the Napoleonic war which ended with the battle of Waterloo. In the case of Great Britain, it is calculated that her national income is about $10,000,000,000 annually; so that with her vast investments abroad, valued at $20,000,000,000 and her foreign trade of nearly $7,000,000,000 annually, it is quite evident that thus far Britain's financial resources are far from being seriously strained. This cannot be said of some of the other contestants; and if the war is to be one of exhaustion which seems quite probable, these are factors which will play an important and perhaps a decisive part.

For some time to come sterling exchange must continue an important factor in this market. Its course may have either a depressing or a stimulating effect, according to circumstances. The belligerents, especially Great Britain, are buying enormous quantities of war material in this country for which they cannot pay by selling us our usual quota of European products, mainly because they have not such to sell, except in lessened quantities. Payment to us of what is due is therefore impossible at present, except by sending gold or securities. The former we do not want, because our supply is burdensome, and imports since January 1, have been about $111,000,000, including the entire $80,000,000 sent to Canada since the war began. Our enormous gold supply must eventually have a pronounced inflationary effect upon values in this country. Credit is already remarkably cheap to good borrowers. Our banking position is exceptionally sound, and under the new Federal Reserve System we are in an excellent position to lend freely, tehre being no reason whtaever why we should not extend liberal credits to Europe if necessary. On the other hand further imports of gold will prove an embarrassment of riches, and no little pressure is being brought to bear to induce foreign holders to sell a portion of their securities in this market. It is understood that large amounts of such are on deposit here for foreign owners who cannot be induced to sell. Nevertheless, with the expectation of enormous flotations of foreign loans, it would seem as if a further distribution of these holdings was inevitable. If British capitalists should desire to take their own national loans when offered they would find ready purchasers for their American investments in this market, or they could easily be utilized as collateral. There is an abundance of funds here awaiting just such an opportunity. Shrewd American investors will doubtless prefer the chance of buying the securities of well established domestic corporations to making new ventures at this time. Hence while there is a possibility of further sales for foreign account, the situation is such that they would probably be quickly absorbed, especially in view of the inflationary tendencies above referred to. Under present conditions the best stocks will carry themselves and pay a handsome profit on borrowed capital.

Commercial conditions at home show limited but steady improvement. Our crops are somewhat backward, but the outlook is satisfactory. The steel industry shows a decided gain and is now estimated to be working at about 30 per cent of capacity, against 70 per cent a month ago, this largely on account of foreign orders for munitions and railroad equipment. Domestic orders are also coming in rather more freely. Prices are stiffening, and the building trade exhibits symptoms of recovery. Failures are few and collections fairly good. The scarcity of skilled labor is developing in certain lines, and no relief is to be expected from immigration, which is practically suspended for obvious reasons. Railroad earnings show rather discouraging returns. Bank clearings for the first half of June were likewise discouraging, inasmuch as they show a materially smaller volume of trade than in the same period last year. Nevertheless, the general situation may be considered reasonably hopeful; especially in view of the world-wide derangements.

HENRY CLEWS.

FINANCIAL PROBLEM IS UP

Wise Employment of Immense Mass of Credits Is Foremost Matter—Reserves Over $200,000,000.

New York, June 20.—The new level for foreign exchange, in spite of the inflow of gold in unprecedented volume, shows the difficulties of this country's debtors in meeting obligations. The gold replenishment, coupled with moderate demands on the domestic money market, brings up bank reserves of New York clearing house institutions to $200,000,000 in excess of legal requirements, with the Federal Reserve rediscount but slightly encroached on.

Wise employment of this mass of credits is th eforemost financial problem. A plan favored by American bankers and proposed by French and English government authorities looks to the deposit here of American securities now held in Europe as collateral for a loan.

Superiority of this collateral over war bonds is embarrassed by Great Britain's proposal for an additional issue of $1,750,000,000 and by statistics of the huge total aggregate of such bonds in all countries.

The depressing influence on prices of the liquidation of these American securities also would be avoided.

The repressive effect of the unsettled dispute with Germany was manifest to some extent, largely in curtailed market operations. Railroad dividends came into question in view of exhibits of earnings. A fall in September wheat modified Western cheerfulness. Shading of copper and lead prices induced reactions in that group.

Loss of the government's criminal suit against the National Cash Register Company, following the United States Steel decision was made the occasion of speculative inferences regarding other suits and of the final interpretation of the Sherman law.

SOUTHERN COTTON REVIEW

Trading Was Small in Volume During Past Week and Price Changes Not Very Important.

New Orleans, June 20.—Trading in cotton was small in volume last week and price-changes were not important. The close was at a net advance of five points to a net decline of two points, compared with last week. The deadlock brought about by the political situation was still on and was intensified by the new crop situation. On the whole, sentiment in regard to the crop was inclined to be bullish, but almost completely offsetting this feeling were favorable official crop and weather accounts and an acreage report from a prominent authority, putting the decrease at only 10.86 per cent.

Mill takings for the week were larger than expected and steadied the close. Bears, however, considered the visible supply the most important feature of the statistical statement. The visible of American is now 4,299,965. bales against 2,400,978 a year ago.

The trade hopes to see during this week some development in the political situation which will break the stagnation in the future market.

This week will end the second condition period of the season. Warm and dry weather would be used as arguments against the price while rains, especially heavy rains, probably would be a powerful weapon for the bulls.

GOOD TEETH ESSENTIAL.

Recent Medical Discoveries Prevent Dental Loss.

According to the United States Public Health Service there will be a falling off in the sale of store teeth in the future, and plates and toothless gums will be seen less frequently than formerly. This is due to the epoch-making discovery of the cause and method of treating what is known to the scientist as pyorrhea dentalis and alveolaris and to the layman as Rigg's disease. This is a suppuration around the roots of the teeth and causes an inflammation which produces loosening and loss of the teeth. At one time or another practically everybody has Rigg's disease. It is caused by a minute single celled animal called the endamoeba buccalis. This malevolent parasite does its work in combination with the pus-producing bacteria or germs. The skilful teamwork between these two destroys the delicate membrane which surrounds the roots of the teeth and causes them to fall out.

The necessity of good teeth in order to have good health has been recognized a long time, but the scientists of our country have only recently worked out the relationship between decay of the teeth and Rigg's disease on the one hand, and rheumatism, serious heart disease and high blood pressure on the other. So firmly have these facts been proven that the modern up-to-date physician begins the treatment of such diseases by an inquiry into the condition of the teeth and their sockets. If these are found to be diseased, the condition is cured before the treatment goes further. The discovery of the cause of Rigg's disease is, therefore, of the very greatest importance.

Just as soon as the cause of Rigg's disease was found out, the search for the cure began in earnest. It had been previously discovered that the use of ipecac would cure the diseases which are caused by infection of the intestine with endamoebae. From this it was deduced that a similar treatment would cause the destruction of endamoebae in the mouth. This was found to be the case, and emetin, the form of the drug used, is now administered by physicians for the cure and prevention of the disease. It sometimes takes a considerable time to get rid of all of the malignant germs in this way but the results which have been obtained have been remarkably good. The treatment is both local and general.

In the matter of preventing mouth disease, it is important that the mouth be cleaned several times a day, and that a dentist be visited frequently to remove tartar and the yellowish matter which accumulates along the inner edges of the teeth and between the teeth. This is particularly important in the case of children, because it has been found that many a child is apparently dull who is in reality suffering from a chronic poisoning produced by a mouth full of decaying teeth.

The number of sufferers from Rigg's disease in the United States is very large and the United States Public Health Service is daily receiving inquiries as to the method of curing and preventing the disease.

WILLIAM LEE AT WARSAW.

Aged Servant Body Servant of General Robert E. Lee Asking Church Funds.

(Special Star Correspondent.)

Warsaw, June 20.—An interesting feature of the service at the Presbyterian church this morning was a talk by William Lee, an old negro who was General Robert E. Lee's body servant during the four years of the War Between the States. After the pastor, Rev. George Matthis, had preached a strong sermon to a large congregation, he introduced William, who then spoke interestingly and pathetically of his life with "Marse Robert." He mentioned some of the battles in which Lee fought and told of his life in the Lee home before the war, and for a number of years after. He knew a number of the greatest Southern generals personally, and seemed glad to renew his acquaintance with Captain S. A. Johnson, of this place. Captain Johnson said: "That old negro and I have been through some tight places together."

William has been a preacher for fifty-four years, and he is raising a debt from his church in Gates county. He asked for a collection, saying that he wanted only Democratic money from his Southern friends. That all the old line Southern darkies were Democrats and loved the white folks. Of course. William received a neat sum in Democratic nickels, dimes, quarters, halves and dollars.

ing. Dr. D. Clay Lily, who had charge of the programme and presided over the first gathering, will be in charge of the one next winter. Greensboro will be again one of about 75 cities in the United States to have these conventions and the only place in North Carolina. This city was again selected on account of the splendid methods and successful results of the first one.

The second convention will not be a repetition but a natural sequence of the first. It will be worked up along the same lines. There will be an executive secretary for about six weeks just before the convention, and he will thoroughly advertise the meeting. Greensboro will guarantee $300 to provide the speakers, and about $1,200 is expected from registration to bear the remaining part of the expense.

NEWS OF A DAY FROM THE STATE CAPITAL

Henderson Business Man Optimistic Over Future

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young Goes to Hendersonville to Explain New Insurance Law to Agents in Convention.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 19.—Mr. F. C. Toepleman, of Henderson, here today delighted Raleigh business men with whom he talked with an especially optimistic report of industrial progress in Henderson where he is primarily general manager of the Home Telephone Company that has an important network of telephone lines extending into Eastern Carolina.

The building that is in progress in Henderson in spite of the "war times" is most gratifying as reported by Mr. Toepleman. First of all he tells of the erection of a substantial parish house for Holy Innocence Episcopal church, he being the chairman, by the way of the building committee. Then there are two nice bungalows being erected by Mr. Alex Cooper and an apartment house by Mr. Toepleman. Mr. S. S. Stephens and Mr. A .E. Knott are each erecting bungalows that are quite attractive and one the site of the opera house which was recently burned Mr. J. S. Poythress is putting up a building and that will contain stores, an armory for the military company and club apartments.

Mr. Toepleman says that business in Henderson is good and that the business men are in fine spirits and the city and section is developing splendidly.

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young has accepted an invitation to address the annual convention of the fire insurance agents at Hendersonville ext week and state to them as clearly as he can the new insurance laws that go into effect July 1 as passed by the recent legislature. These changes in the law, inquaries as to which are pouring in to the Department of Insurance by ever ymail, include the stamping of the basis rate on each policy of insurance; deficiency charges and credits and as to whether the co-insurance clause shall be included in the policy. Commissioner Young says that he finds it impossible to answer fully by individual letters the various inquiries that are coming in to the department as to these new laws.

The Wake county commissioners today awarded the contract for the electric and other fixtures for the splendid new $325,000 county court house, which is expected to be completed ready for occupancy early in August. Indeed, the contractor has promised to be ready for the sheriff and a number of the other county officials to move into their new quarters before July 1. This is in order that the county may cut off rentals that are being paid out while the building is in progress. The commissioners will award the contract for the general furnishings for the courthouse on Thursday of next week.

The top floor of the building is devoted to the county jail and the cells and other equipment for this are now being installed. It is a model in every respect. In fact, the court house building throughout is pronounced by those who have inspected it to represent a splendid "turn key" job with a wonderfully good showing for the money invested.

MEMPHIS HEADS FOR THE TOP IN SOUTHERN LEAGUE

New Orleans Now Only Few Points Ahead of Tennessee City.

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Memphis continued its upward march in the Southern Association club standing during the week ending yesterday, displacing Birmingham from second position by winning four of six games while the Alabama team was losing four in seven. As New Orleans, the leader, returned, but two victories in seven starts, Memphis was but one game and a half behind.

Nashville won three of its five contests and is only half a game behind Birmingham, in third position. Chattanooga lost ground, dropping six of eight games. Atlanta bettered its percentage with four wins in six attempts while Mobile won four and lost three and Little Rock won three and lost two.

NO WORD FROM COLORADO.

Marines Will Not Be Landed Unless Mexican Troops Cannot Handle.

San Francisco, June 20.—No word was received here today from the United States cruiser Colorado, due to arrive last night at Guaymas, Sonora, Mexico, with marines to aid, if necessary, Americans imperilled by Yaqui Indians.

Jose Mayotorena, Villa commander, was quoted yesterday as having declared if the marines sought to land on Mexican soil he would oppose them with all the forces at his command.

The Colorado reported last night that radiograms from Guaymas said they thought Admiral Howard would not attempt to land marines unless the Villa troops showed themselves unable to protect American settlers.

MORE GRAIN THAN EVER

European War a Blessing to Wilson County Farmers?

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., June 19.—The Europeans war has turned into a blessing in so far as Wilson county farmers are concerned—there is more grain in the county this spring than ever before. In every section of the county bountiful yields of wheat are reported and the oats and rye are good—with corn looking fine. Tobacco and cotton will bring in the money and the acreage together with the outlook is sufficient to make the farmers smile. Less fertilizer has been used this season and there has been a marked tendency toward economy.

AMERICAN JEWS TO ACT.

To Bring About Measures for Relief of Jews in Belligerent Countries.

New York, June 20.—An American Jewish conference will be held in Washington about November 1 next to consider measures for relief of the condition of the Jews in belligerent countries, it was decided here today at a special meeting of the American Jewish committee at which Louis Marshall presided. The committee decided that the conference should be composed of not more than 150 delegates from Jewish national societies throughout the country.

"On the 17th our troops completed their success by carrying the heights still in the hands of the enemy. The latter then centered on them with violent artillery and machine gun fire which was followed up by another counter attack by fresh troops. He was decimated and definitely driven back at the point of the bayonet. We made more than 150 prisoners. Our losses were serious, but the results obtained were important.

"On the Isonzo which we passed by main force, the enemy's positions have been one after another taken by assault. Attempts to assume the offensive by numerous seasoned troops have been constantly repulsed."

ROYALTY ENDANGERED IN ATTACK

Queen Victoria of Sweden Was in Karlshrue When Allies Attacked.

Berlin, June 20, via wireless to Sayville.—Queen Victoria of Sweden and the family of Prince Maximilian of Baden narrowly escaped injury from bombs in the French air raid on Karlsrhue, according to Overseas News Agency, which says an official statement has been issued concerning the attack. One bomb struck the room of the castle above the bed room occupied by the Princess' children and another exploded above the chamber of a Swedish lady-in-waiting, Baroness Hochschild, the statement asserts.

One occupant of the castle at the time of the raid was the Dowager Duchess of Baden, an aunt of Emperor William.

The German military authorities declare, the news agency asserts, that heretoofre German airships and aeroplanes have bomboarded only places of military importance, on occasions when it has been stated explicitly the raids were in retaliation for attacks by Allies upon open towns.

FRENCH OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Claim to Have Delivered an Attack and Advanced North of Arras.

Paris, June 20.—Tonight's war office statement said:

"In the sector to the north of Arras as masters of the Fond De Buval, we have delivered an attack toward the east in the direction of Souchez and advanced about one kilometer (two-thirds of a mile).

"The artillery action continues to be very violent.

"To the west of the Argonne we repelled a violent attack by the enemy and made some prisoners. On the heights of the Meuse our troops attacked in the sector of the Calonne trench and acrried two of the enemy's lines, making 70 prisoners, of whom two were officers.

"In Lorraine, near Reilion, we captured a central point of enemy resistance and repulsed two counter attacks. A third counter attack temporarily drove us back, but almost immediately we regained the entire position. A fourth counter attack was arrested by our fire. We made about a hundred prisoners.

"Our offensive in the valley of the Fecht continues; we have taken additional prisoners."

ARRANGEMENT FOR FUNERAL.

Of British Aviator and American Writer Who Were Killed in Accident.

Paris, June 20. — Arrangements for the funeral service at Versailles for Henry Beach Needham, the American writer, and Lieut. R. A. J. Warneford, of the British Royal Navy flying corps, killed in an aeroplane accident on last Thursday, have been cancelled, and the bodies have been brought to Paris.

Mr. Needham's body has been placed in the chapel of the American church of the Holy Trinity, awaiting a reply to a dispatch sent by the American embassy to his widow, who is in the United States, asking for instructions.

Lieut. Warneford's body will be sent to England where some form of public funeral befitting the man who has been hailed as a hero for his recent destruction of a Zeppelin airship, will be held.

French army officers and notable persons sent flowers to be placed around the coffins containing the bodies of Warneford and Needham. A small aeroplane composed of flowers was laid on Warneford's coffin by the officers and men of the English hospital. On the left wing was the Victoria Cross, on the right the Legion of Honor. The propeller of white roses bears the inscription: "Honored by the King, admired by the Empire, but mourned by All."

Warneford's body will be transported to England tomorrow under a guard of honor. A military funeral will be held at London. It will be national in character.

GUARD AGAINST AIR ATTACKS.

Venice Looks for Another Visit of the Austrian Airmen.

Venicavia, Chasso to Paris, June 20—Reports that the Austrians are preparing to make new air raids over Venice, have caused the authorities to order stricter precautionary measures by the populace. The military order has been issued that windows shall be so screened that the light will not show through them. If a light is seen at a window the military guard will order it extinguished. Failure to comply with the order of the guard will result in a shot being fired through the window.

TAKE ALBANIAN TOWN.

Serbians Advance Into Neighboring State, and President Flees.

London, June 20. — A Reuter dispatch from Athens says it is reported there the Serbians have occupied Durazzo, Albania. Essad Pasha, provisional President of Albania, and former commander of the Turkish forces at Scutari, is said to have fled to Italy.

Serbian troops have been operating in Albania for some time. Italy has not formally declared war against Turkey, which may explain the reported flight of Essad Pasha to Italy.

RUSSIAN NIGHT STATEMENT

Communication Issued Last Night Says That Fighting of Local Nature.

Petrograd, June 20 (via London, June 21).—The Following official communication was issued tonight:

"In the Shavli region and west of the Niemen continuous fighting of a local character continues:

"On the Narew front June 19 there was artillery firing near Ednorojetz and Groudnousk.

"On the 18th and 19th the enemy conducted an offensive with strong forces in the direction of Rawa Ruska and on the front of the Grodek Lakes, in Galicia, the enemy forces being largely recent arrivals from Belgium.

"In the Dniester region stubborn fighting continues against enemy forces which crossed the river below Nijnieff.

"Advancing from the river the enemy progressed as far as the villages of Koropetz and Kosmierjine but our vigorous counter attacks with the bayonet threw him back, inflicting great losses. In the village of Kosmierjine alone he left more than 2,000 prisoners and seven machine guns.

"Between the Pruth and the Dniester on 18th and 19th vigorous fighting continued. Near the village of Balamoutovsky we captured eight machine guns.

CATHEDRAL BEING DAMAGED

Paris, June 20.—Albert Dalimier, under secretary of fine arts, has returned from Rheims where he went to see what further damage had been done to the cathedral by recent German bombardments.

Five shells fell in the cathedral Thursday, causing additional destruction, he said. Measures of protection naturally are restricted. Sand bags have been piled around the base of the exterior and the most important parts of the interior have been walled around with planks which save them from damage from shell fragments, but afford no protection against the explosion of entire shells. Everything movable has been removed.

GERMANY NOT STARVED OUT

Will Have to Economize as to Meat in the Hereafter Says Official.

London, June 20.—Lecturing at Berlin recently Professor Balled, of the University of Berlin, said, according to a Times dispatch that the shortage of Germany's food supply amounted to only about 12 per cent. and the attempt to starve Germany had failed.

The danger now to be averted, he said, was that excessive optimism might result in waste. If the war lasted another year Germany would have to practice great economics. There would be sufficient bread and potatoes but the situation with respect to meat was much less favorable. The authorities probably would be forced to reduce by one-half the consumption of meat and bear. He appealed for voluntary economy in all directions.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Today the Last Decision Day Until in October—Many Cases Pending.

Washington, June 20.—Tomorrow will be the last decision day in Supreme court until next October. It is expected that most, if not all the 30 cases now under advisement will be decided. Among the more important cases pending are the International Harvester dissolution suit, the Grand Father Clause cases and the Oregon minimum wage case.

The court also will dispose of the application of the government for a review of the decision of the customs court allowing a five per cent. discount on goods imported in American bottoms and vessels of "most favored nations" under the Underwood-Simmons tariff act.

CONFESSED TO MURDER OF DEAF AND DUMB GIRL.

Baltimore Man Claims Crime Committed for Purpose of Robbery.

Baltimore, June 20.—Marion Deems today confessed, the police said, that he killed Miss Laura Schaefer, a young deaf and dumb woman, whose body was found yesterday in a ravine near West Point, a suburb.

The motive was robbery, Deems said. He obtained 53 cents, but didn't take the girl's pay envelope ontaining $7.00.

According to the coroner, Miss Schaefer had been attacked, but Deems declares he was guilty only of beating the girl to death and taking her money.

YALE COMMENCEMENT STARTS.

Memorial to Yale Men Who Lost Lives During War is Dedicated.

New Haven, Conn., June 20. — The commencement season at Yale was ushered in formally today with the baccalaureate sermon by President Arthur Twining Hadley and the dedication of a memorial to Yale men who lost their lives in the war between the States.

The civil war memorial in honor of 113 Yale men in the Union army and 55 in the Confederate army, who lost their lives, was presented by former Governor Simeon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut. More than 1,000 Yale graduates subscribed the necessary funds.

MINISTER SHOT AND KILLED A YOUNG MARRIED MAN.

Declared His Relations With His Daughter Improper—Charge Denied.

Calhoun, Ga., June 20.—Rev. W. W. Putnam, of Rango, Ga., was placed in jail here today, charged with having shot and killed Homer Taylor, a young married man, also of Rango, near there, late yesterday. Officials say that Putman admitted shooting Taylor, alleging that the latter's relations with his daughter were improper. Miss Putman, it was stated, declares this untrue.

TO USE BIPLANES ONLY.

Germany Has Adopted That Machine for Use in Aerial Warfare.

London, June 20.—Reports from Germany to the Times quote the setatement of a German flight captain that the Taube pattern of aeroplane has been discarded as too unstable and unsatisfactory for military uses as are other types of monoplanes because of their inability to carry a sufficient load and the Germans are now making exclusively biplanes of an improved type.

The Germans admit the French are superior in field areonautics.

Vienna, via Amsterdam and London, June 20. — An Austrian official statement says: "Several of our cruisers and torpedo boats united Thursday and Friday under took an expedition along the Italian coast from the frontier of the empire to Fano. They damaged the semaphore stations at the mouth of the Tagliamento river and near Pesaro, and the railway bridges near Rimini, across the Meturo and Aroila rivers. All the units returned safely."

Vineyard Haven, Mass., June 20. — The Merchants' and Miners' Line steamer Persian, Boston for Philadelphia, and the British schooner Neva collided in Pollock Rip Slue in a fog today. The schooner's port quarter was cut away above the water line. No one on either vessel was injured. The Persian towed the Neva here and proceeded for Philadelphia.

London, June 21.—An exodus already has begun from Lemberg, says the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent. The correspondent says that June rains in Russia and Galicia have greatly hampered the attacking armies.

London, June 21. — The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says that M. Makaroff, minister of the interior, has been retired and that Prince Cherbatoff has succeeded him.

PENNSYLVANIA FULL CREW LAW UPHELD BY GOVERNOR

Bill Designed to Repeal Law Is Vetoed by Chief Executive of State.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 20.—Governor Brumbaugh announced tonight he had vetoed a bill designed to repeal the Pennsylvania full crew law. The bill was passed by the Legislature recently after an extensive publicity campaign had been conducted by the railroads. Under the terms of the measure which opposed by railway employes and labor organizations, the public service commission would have been empowered to require railroads to employ an adequate number of men upon trains.

The governor states that members of the legislature informed him that they had been subjected to the pleadings of a "large and persistent lobby" until the measure had passed. All the discussion the governor says revolved around one additional employe required about the present above the number necessarily and willingly carried by the companies. This extra man, he says, has added materially to the safety of the traveling public.

Relating to the argument of the railroads that the full crew law added to the cost of operation the governor cites the fact that the companies have within a year been given increased freight rates.

INQUIRY THROWS LITTLE LIGHT ON CONDITIONS

That Exist at the Naval Academy—Two Weeks' Work Has Been Done.

Annapolis, Md., June 20. — The court of inquiry tomorrow will begin its third week of the investigation to get to the bottom of the "Cribbing" scandal at the Naval Academy. Two weeks of inquiry apparently has failed to get near the real point in the case, the manner in which advance copies of the actual examination in Spanish was obtained.

Who procured these copies and then mailed them to Midshipman J. E. Moss, is as much a mystery as ever. Judge Advocate Watt, it is expected, will continue his efforts begun Saturday to determine whether a fund was started by midshipmen for the purpose of bribing some one to procure the examinations.

COLUMBIA MADE FLAGSHIP.

Will Head the Submarine Flotilla With Captain Grant in Command.

Washington, June 20.—Secretary Daniels tonight announced designation of the cruiser Columbia as flagship of the Atlantic submarine flotilla and as a school ship for training men for the submarine service. Captain A. W. Grant, commanding the flotilla, and in general charge of the submarine branch, has just concluded conferences with Secretary Daniels and Bureau officials. His most difficult task now is the manning of the 13 new submarines nearing completion, but the use of the Columbia as a training ship is expected to solve this problem.

The Columbia, built before the Spanish war, as a commerce destroyer, has been in reserve at the Philadelphia navy yard.

SON KILLED IN FRANCE.

Chattanooga Minister Had Son in French Army—Was American Boy.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 20.—Dr. Loaring Clark, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, here, today received a message announcing the death of his son, Lieut. Charles Loaring Clark, third battalion Canadian infantry, serving at the front in Northern France. The young officer received wounds while in battle near Ypres. Lieut. Clark was born in London and came to America 12 years ago, the family first settling in St. Louis. Dr. Clark has been rector of St. Paul's for six years. Young Clark was a graduate of Sewanee military academy.

MAKE CLEVELAND BETTER.

Chamber of Commerce Takes Steps to Alter Present Labor Conditions.

Cleveland, June 20. — With the offer of $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons who assaulted Charles Hibbs, a plumber, January 28, 1915, the Cleveland chamber of commerce today launched a crusade to break up violence in connection with labor disputes.

This action follows an exhaustive study of conditions by a special chamber committee. Its report finds that Cleveland is being given a reputation as an "unsafe place for union or non-union men to work."

Washington, June 20.—William Jennings Bryan who returned today from New York after delivering his first address since resigning as Secretary of State, plans to speak again Thursday night at a peace demonstration in Madison Square Garden, New York. Mr. Bryan left tonight with Mrs. Bryan for Asheville but will return to Washington Wednesday.

Paris, June 20.—The French ministry of marine today issued this statement: "A French torpedo boat captured between Cape Matapan, Greece, and Crete, a small Greek sailing ship navigating with false papers and carrying a mission of Turkish officers sent by Enver Pasha into Tripoli to carry gifts to the Senousi."

Vienna, June 20, via London, June 21. —The Russians have been in general retreat since 3 o'clock this morning along their entire front after having been forced out of their positions on the Weressyca river, a short distance west of Lemberg.

Geneva, via Paris, June 20.—Newspaper correspondents who have been sending from Chinese stories concerning the development of the Italian campaign have been requested to leave the frontier. Most of these correspondents have gone to Zurich.

Petrograd, via London, June 21.—Sergius Tanejeff, the music composer and formerly director of the Moscow conservatory, is dead. He was born in 1856 and was a pupil of Rubinstein and Tschaikowsky. In 1895 Tanejeff composed the three-act opera "Orestein."

El Paso, Texas, June 20.—An unconfined report is that Victoriano Huerta is en route from New York to El Paso presumably to confer with former Mexican leaders.

Ottawa, Ont., June 20.—Eight officers are reported as killed in action and thirteen officers wounded in tonight's list of casualities among the celebration contingent.

London, June 20.—The retort houses of the Berlin Municipal Gas Works were destroyed by fire which broke out Saturday, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam to the Central News.

Copenhagen, via London, June 20.—Emperor William has established headquarters at Plessin, Southeastern Silesia, and has assumed command of the Galician campaign.

on June 9 lasted more than 24 hours. Buildings burned and crumbled to ashes, and the first departments, although active throughout the disturbances, found it impossible to cope with th eflames.

The Moscow council, at a meeting June 10 took measures to quell the disorders and prevent a repetition of the rioting. The number of fatalities is not known.

Vera Cruz, June 20.—It is stated that Constitutionalist forces surrounding Mexico City expect to enter the capital the middle of the present week. General Carranza will remain in Vera Cruz.

Miss Ellen C. Mullican, who recently completed her course in training at the James Walker Memorial Hospital, is spending a few days with her parents in Winston-Salem.
